

Historical Review

The American Nurses Association has been in existence since 1896. The following is a compilation of some of the events and happenings of the ANA and the nursing profession since 1896.

1896

On September 2, 1896, delegates from ten alumnae associations met at Manhattan Beach Hotel, near New York City, for the purpose of organizing a national professional association for nurses.

1897

On February 11-12, 1897, the constitution and bylaws were completed, and the Nurses' Associated Alumnae of the United States and Canada was organized.

Isabel Adams Hampton Robb, from Ohio, elected president of the Nurses' Association Alumnae of the United States and Canada, 1897 – 1901.

1898

The Nurses' Associated Alumnae of the United States and Canada held its first annual convention, April 28 – 29, in New York, N.Y.

1899

The Nurses' Associated Alumnae of the United States and Canada held its second convention in New York, N. Y., May 1 – 3.

1900

On October 1, 1900, the first issue of the American Journal of Nursing was distributed. The third convention was held May 3 – 5, in New York, N.Y.

In 1900 there were 11,892 nurses (graduates and students).

1901

The first state nurses' associations were organized to work toward state laws to control nursing practice.

The fourth convention was held September 16 – 17, in Buffalo, N.Y.

New York State Nurses Association (April), Virginia Nurses Association (June), Illinois Nurses Association (July), and New Jersey State Nurses Association (December) were the first states to become constituent associations of the Nurses' Association Alumnae.

The Nurses' Associated Alumnae helped to secure passage of a bill creating the Army Nurse Corps, Female.

The Nurses' Associated Alumnae of the United States and Canada was incorporated under the laws of the state of New York, making it necessary to drop the reference to Canada in the association's title.

Annie Damer (New York) elected president of the Nurses' Associated Alumnae, 1901

– 1902. The Nurses' Associated Alumnae affiliated with the American Society of Superintendents of Training Schools for Nurses to form the American Federation of Nurses for the purpose of applying for membership in the National Council of Women.

1902

Linda L. Rogers of New York City becomes the first school nurse.

Mary M. Riddle (Massachusetts) elected president of the Nurses' Associated Alumnae, 1902 – 1905.

The fifth convention was held May 1 – 3, in Chicago, IL.

North Carolina Nurses Association becomes a constituent association of the Nurses' Associated Alumnae.

1903

The first bills concerning registration for nurses were enacted in North Carolina, New York, New Jersey, and Virginia.

Pennsylvania State Nurses Association (June), Minnesota Nurses Association (November), District of Columbia Nurses Association (November), and Maryland Nurses Association (December) become constituent associations of the Nurses' Associated Alumnae.

The sixth convention was held June 10 – 12, in Boston, MA.

1904

Indiana State Nurses Association (January), Ohio Nurses Association (January), Connecticut Nurses Association (February), Louisiana State Nurses Association (March), Michigan Nurses Association (May), Colorado Nurses Association (spring), Iowa Nurses Association (May) become constituent association of the Nurses' Associated Alumnae.

The seventh convention was held May 12 – 14, in Philadelphia, PA.

1905

The Nurses' Associated Alumnae joined with Great Britain and Germany to become the three charter members of the International Council of Nurses.

Annie Damer (New York) elected for a second time as president of the Nurses' Associated Alumnae, 1905 – 1909.

The eighth convention was held May 4 – 5, in Washington, DC.

Rhode Island State Nurses Association (January), West Virginia Nurses Association (February), Oregon Nurses Association (fall) become constituent associations of the Nurses' Associated Alumnae.

1906

The office of Interstate Secretary was created to handle correspondence and assist in organizing state associations.

New Hampshire Nurses Association (May), Missouri Nurses Association (October), Washington State Nurses Association (November), Kentucky Nurses Association (November), Nebraska Nurses Association (November) become constituent associations of the Nurses' Associated Alumnae.

The ninth convention was held June 5 – 7, in Detroit, MI.

1907

Mary Adelaide Nutting was appointed professor of institutional administration at Teachers College, Columbia University, and the first nurse to occupy a university chair.

Texas Nurses Association (February), Georgia Nurses Association (May), South Carolina Nurses Association (fall) become constituent associations of the Nurses' Associated Alumnae.

The tenth convention was held May 14 – 16, in Richmond, VA.

1908

On August 25, 1908, 52 Negro nurses met in New York City and founded the National Association of Colored Graduate Nurses. Martha Franklin of Connecticut, a graduate of the Women's Hospital in Philadelphia, was chosen first president of this group which proposed to work for higher professional nursing standards, the elimination of discrimination, and the development of leadership among Negro nurses. It merged with ANA in 1951.

Oklahoma Nurses Association (September), Wyoming Nurses Association (November) become constituent associations of the Nurses' Associated Alumnae.

The 11th convention was held May 5 – 8, in San Francisco, CA.

The Nurses Corps of the United States Navy was founded.

1909

The Nurses' Associated Alumnae cooperated with the American Red Cross in establishing the Red Cross Nursing Service.

Jane A. Delano (New York) elected president of the Nurses' Associated Alumnae, 1901 – 1911.

The 12th convention was held June 10 – 11, in Minneapolis, MN.

The first complete university school of nursing was organized at the University of Minnesota.

Tennessee Nurses Association (January), Idaho Nurses Association (spring) become constituent associations of the Nurses' Associated Alumnae.

1910

Florence Nightingale, the founder of modern nursing, dies August 13th in London, England at the age of 90.

1911

The Nurses' Associated Alumnae changed its name to the American Nurses' Association. The 13th convention was held May 31 – June 3, in Boston, MA.

Sarah E. Sly (Michigan) elected president of the American Nurses Association, 1911 –

1913. ANA established a relief fund for nurses in need of financial assistance.

ANA established an Advisory Council composed of the officers of the national organization and the presidents of state nurses' associations.

Mississippi Nurses Association (June) becomes a constituent association of the American Nurses Association.

Number of nurses in 1910 (graduates and students): 76,508 women and 5,819 men for a total of 82,327.

1912

ANA purchased all the stock of the American Journal of Nursing Company with the "Journal Purchase Fund" contributed by nurses, plus a note of $1,600.

American Society of Superintendents of Training Schools for Nurses, founded in 1894, changed its name to the National League of Nursing Education. Membership in the league was extended to headworkers of social, educational, and preventive nursing.

ANA helps to organize the National Organization for Public Health Nursing; it dissolved in 1952.

Kansas State Nurses Association (February), North Dakota Nurses Association (May), Delaware Nurses Association (June), Florida Nurses Association (August), Montana Nurses Association (October) become constituent associations of the American Nurses Association.

The 14th convention was held June 5 – 7, in Chicago, IL.

ANA accepted into membership the National League of Nursing Education and the National Organization for Public Health Nursing.

1913

The War Department formally accepted the Red Cross enrollment as a reserve for the Army Nurse Corps and the Navy Nurse Corps.

Genevieve Cooke (California) elected president of the American Nurses Association, 1913 – 1915.

Arkansas Nurses Association (April) becomes a constituent association of the American Nurses Association.

The 15th convention was held June 25 – 27, in Atlantic City, NJ.

1914

ANA established the Central Information Bureau for Legislation and Information to supply data concerning the work of state boards of nurse examiners.

Utah Nurses Association (March), Alabama State Nurses' Association (March), Vermont State Nurses Association (May) become constituent associations of the American Nurses Association.

The ANA convention was held April 23 – 29, in St. Louis, MO.

1915

Annie W. Goodrich (New York) elected president of the American Nurses Association, 1915 – 1918.

The ANA convention was held June 20 – 25, in San Francisco, CA.

1916

The membership basis of ANA was changed from that of membership in the alumnae association to membership in the state association.

Membership in the ANA became a prerequisite for active membership in the National League of Nursing Education.

The ANA convention was held April 24 – May 3, in New Orleans, LA.

Nursing organizations and representatives of allied fields organized the National Emergency Committee on Nursing, later part of the Council of National Defense.

ANA incorporated in the District of Columbia.

South Dakota Nurses Association (July) becomes a constituent association of the American Nurses Association.

ANA delegates authorized the organization of association sections. The first sections to be established were on private duty nursing and mental hygiene.

Through an amendment to the ANA Bylaws, the House of Delegates was created as the governing body of the organization.

1917

The ANA convention was held April 26 – May 2, in Philadelphia, PA.

1918

Annie W. Goodrich originated the Army School of Nursing. Miss Goodrich also served as the school's first dean.

Clara D. Noyes (District of Columbia) elected president of the American Nurses Association, 1918 – 1922.

Hawaii Nurses Association becomes a constituent association of the American Nurses Association. The ANA convention was held May 7 – 11 in Cleveland, OH.

Upon request of the Committee on Nursing of the Council of National Defense, ANA completed a census of nursing resources of the country.

The American Red Cross discontinued its Town and Country Nursing Service, establishing in its place a Bureau of Public Health Nursing.

Number of nurses in the country: all graduate nurses – 83,775; number registered – 66,017; number not registered – 17,758.

1919

In cooperation with the American Red Cross, ANA, NLNE, and NOPHN helped establish the Bureau of Information which helped nurses returning from overseas readjust to civilian life. In conjunction with these activities, the Red Cross provided headquarters facilities in the office of the Atlantic Division of the American Red Cross.

Arizona Nurses Association becomes a constituent association of the American Nurses Association.

1920

ANA, with the assistance of NLNE and NOPHN, adopted the Florence Nightingale School of Nursing at Bordeaux, France, as the American Nurses' Memorial to the nurses who died in World War I. The school's cornerstone was laid on June 5, 1921.

ANA helped secure legislation granting relative rank to members of the Army Nurse Corps.

ANA appointed a Committee on the Status of Colored Graduate Nurses to establish lines of communication with the National Association of Colored Graduate Nurses.

Number of women nurses (graduates and students) 143,664; number of male nurses (graduates and students) 5,464; total number of nurses 149,128.

Nevada Nurses Association becomes a constituent association of the American Nurses Association. The ANA convention was held April 12 – 17 in Atlanta, GA.

ANA discontinued its annual conventions in order to support state association conventions in alternate years. ANA's first biennial convention was held in Atlanta with 470 delegates from state associations and 2,179 registrants. Between 1920 and 1928 ANA, NLNE, and NOPHN held their conventions at the same time and in the same city.

In September 1920, ANA and NLNE established headquarters offices at 156 Fifth Avenue, New York, NY. The American Red Cross continued to finance headquarters activities of the two organizations until July 1, 1921.

1921

On April 15, 1921, the ANA, NLNE and NOPHN moved their offices to 370 Seventh Avenue, New York, NY.

512 student nurses, comprising the first class, were graduated from the Army School of Nursing.

New Mexico Nurses Association becomes a constituent association of the American Nurses Association.

ANA organized a legislative section.

1922

ANA increased its dues from 15 cents to 50 cents per member in order to undertake the financial responsibility of maintaining a national headquarters.

Adda Eldridge (Wisconsin) elected president of the American Nurses Association, 1922 – 1926. The ANA convention was held June 26 – July 1 in Seattle, WA.

The Honor Society of Nursing, Sigma Theta Tau International, a not-for-profit organization whose mission is to improve the health of people worldwide through leadership and scholarship in practice, education and research, is founded.

1923

The study, Nursing and Nursing Education in the United States, was published. Financed by the Rockefeller Foundation, the study identified needs of nursing education and public health nursing.

ANA contributed $16,500 toward the work of the Committee on the Grading of Nursing Schools to study conditions of nursing service, education, and economics.

Agnes Deans was appointed the first paid executive secretary at the national nursing headquarters. The first special committee on ethical standards was appointed.

Collegiate schools of nursing were established at Yale and Western Reserve Universities.

By the end of 1923, the headquarters operations of the American Nurses' Association and the National League" of Nursing Education had been completely separated.

1924

Committees on legislation and organizational self-analysis were appointed by ANA's Board of Directors.

In January 1924, the Puerto Rico Graduate Nurses' Association was accepted into ANA membership.

The ANA convention was held June 16 – 21 in Detroit, MI.

ANA organized a government nursing service section.

1925

The first ANA field secretaries were appointed.

The first meeting of the Kentucky Committee for Mothers and Babies, the parent organization of the Frontier Nursing Service, was held on May 28, 1925.

1926

A tentative code of ethics for nurses was adopted by the American Nurses' Association.

S. Lillian Clayton (Pennsylvania) elected president of the American Nurses Association, 1926 – 1930.

The ANA convention was held May 17 – 22 in Atlantic City, NJ.

As the result of an amendment to the ANA Bylaws, registered nurse status became a prerequisite for membership.

1927

A group of state nurses' associations organized a Midwestern conference division.

1928

The Committee on the Grading of Nursing Schools published its study on the supply and demand for nurses entitled Nurses, Patients and Pocketbooks.

ANA, NLNE, and NOPHN appointed a Joint Committee on the Distribution of Nursing Services.

A group of state nurses' associations organized a southern conference division. By 1929, there were five conference divisions: New England, Middle Atlantic, Midwest, Northwestern, and Southern.

ANA organized a federal government nurses' section.

The ANA convention was held June 4 – 9 in Louisville, KY.

1929

ANA began a study of registries and private duty nursing. Tentative standards for registries were formulated.

ANA endorsed a group insurance plan (annuity, life, health, and accident) offered by the Harmon Association for the Advancement of Nursing.

1930

Linda Richards, "America's First Trained Nurse," died on April 16, 1930, at the age of 89.

In June 1930, ANA's House of Delegates voted that the national relief fund be discontinued, and the existing fund be divided among the respective state associations on a per capita basis according to the 1932 membership.

Elnora E. Thomson (Oregon) elected president of the American Nurses Association, 1930 – 1934.

ANA's Special Committee on Reclassification submitted a brief and specifications for civilian nursing service in the federal government to the Personnel Classification Board.

The Committee on the Grading of Nursing Schools published "The Student Body."

As the result of a bylaw amendment, provision was made for male nurses to become members of the American Nurses' Association.

The ANA convention was held June 9 – 14 in Milwaukee, WI.

In 1930 there were 294,189 nurses (graduates and students), which is an increase of 2,374% from the 11,892 nurses (graduates and students) in 1900. 98% of the 294,189 nurses were female, leaving only 2% or 5,452 male nurses in the U.S.

1931

The Committee on the Grading of Nursing Schools published "What Nurses Learn" and "Who Controls the Schools."

In April 1931, ANA headquarters was relocated at 450 Seventh Avenue, New York, NY, with the NOPHN, NLNE, and seventeen other national health agencies.

ANA, through the Joint Committee on Distribution of Nursing Services, formulated standards of employment for private duty nurses, including standards and terms of employment for nurses practicing in institutional settings.

The American Association of Nurse Anesthetists was organized.

1932

The National League of Nursing Education accepted the function of the Department of Education of the American Nurses' Association, while retaining its own organization.

The Association of Collegiate Schools of Nursing was organized. The ANA convention was held April 11 – 15 in San Antonio, TX.

1933

The Joint Committee on Distribution of Nursing Services sponsored a survey on hourly nursing service.

1934

The Committee on the Grading of Nursing Schools published the results of its final studies, An Activity Analysis of Nursing and Nursing Schools- Today and Tomorrow.

Cooperating with NLNE and NOPHN, ANA established the Nursing Information Bureau under the administration of the American Journal of Nursing Company.

ANA's House of Delegates approved an eight-hour day for nurses and conducted a national campaign to promote better working hours.

Susan G. Francis (Pennsylvania) elected president of the American Nurses Association, 1934 – 1938.

The ANA convention was held April 22 – 27 in Washington, DC. Convention theme: “The Changing Order”.

ANA, the Federal Emergency Relief Administration, the Civil Works Administration and state nurses' associations collaborated on a survey of unemployed nurses. ANA also assisted states in funding employment for nurses on relief.

In April 1934, ANA moved their headquarters operation to 50 West 50th Street, New York, NY.

On July 5, 1934, the inaugural meeting of the International Council of Nurses, Florence Nightingale Foundation was held in London, England.

The National Association of Colored Graduate Nurses established headquarters in New York City. As of December 31, 1934, ANA membership totaled 110,598.

1935

ANA appointed a committee to study health insurance proposals and programs and their implications for the nursing profession.

The work of ANA's Legislative Section, organized in 1921, was assumed by the Committee on Legislation.

ANA, NLNE, and NOPHN formed a Joint Committee on Community Nursing Service to help communities plan a more complete nursing service.

Congress enacted the Social Security Act.

The National Labor Relations Act was enacted; it protected the rights of workers who wished to organize and bargain collectively.

1936

In 1934, ANA's Board of Directors appointed a special committee to consider a request to move ANA headquarters to Chicago. This committee explored the distribution of nurses across the country, the expense of relocation, and possible relocation sites. In 1936, the Board recommended that ANA retain headquarters offices in New York in close proximity to other health organizations.

The Mary Mahoney Award is established by the National Association of Colored Graduate Nurses.

ANA undertook a project to review and restate the function of the association as well as the joint functions of the three national nursing organizations.

The three national nursing organizations established a joint committee to examine the issue of subsidiary workers.

ANA appointed a committee to consider the matter of lay membership and lay participation in the American Nurses' Association.

The ANA convention was held June 21 – 26 in Los Angeles, CA. Convention theme: "Nursing as Part of Tomorrow's Community Health Service".

A committee of the National League of Nursing Education and the Division of Nursing of the Council of the American Hospital Association prepared the Manual of the Essentials of Good Hospital Nursing Service.

1937

The board of directors of the American Nurses' Association appointed a special committee for the purpose of considering the question of nurse membership in unions.

1938

ANA voted to raise $88,500 for the Florence Nightingale International Foundation, "a perpetual and living memorial to the undying spirit and influence of nursing's great pioneer."

ANA reported on its study of incomes and employment conditions of nurses. ANA recommended a salary schedule for nurses comparable to those of other women workers, a 48-hour week for nurses practicing in institutions, and vacations with pay.

Julia C. Stimson (New York) elected president of the American Nurses Association, 1938 – 1944.

The ANA convention was held April 24 – 29 in Kansas City, MO. Convention theme: "The Individual Nurses' Responsibility for Professional Progress".

The "Spirit of Nursing" monument was dedicated in Arlington National Cemetery, VA. Delegates voted to allow one delegate for every one hundred members of the state nurses' association. Prior to 1938 the voting body at each convention was based on one delegate for every 50 members.

1939

On January 22, 1939, ANA's Board of Directors appointed a special committee for the purpose of considering the possibility of consolidation of the three national nursing organizations.

ANA adopted a policy favoring the licensure of all who nurse for hire.

1940

ANA's House of Delegates offered President Roosevelt its support in any activity in which nurses could be of service to the country.

ANA organized sections for male nurses and general staff nurses.

ANA proposed and became a member of the Nursing Council on National Defense which was formed to coordinate activities of the profession on national and local levels during the national emergency. The council was renamed the National Nursing Council for War Service in 1942.

ANA headquarters office was relocated at 1790 Broadway in New York City.

The ANA convention was held May 12 – 17 in Philadelphia, PA. Convention theme: "Nursing in a Democracy".

ANA and NLNE published a Digest of Nurse Practice Acts and Board Rules to facilitate state registration of nurses by reciprocity.

Number of nurses (graduates and students) from the US Census; 361,215 women and 8,072 men for a total of 369,287.

A Joint Committee of the American Hospital Association and the National League of Nursing Education, in cooperation with the American Nurses' Association, published a report on "Administrative Cost Analysis for Nursing Service and Nursing Education."

1941

At the request of the National Nursing Council for War Service, ANA and NLNE made a study of nursing vacancies in U.S. hospitals.

ANA participated in a national survey of nurses conducted by the U. S. Public Health Service.

In light of the fact that New York City was considered a possible target for enemy attack, ANA decided to store valuable historical records in Chicago.

Between 1941 and 1946, ANA assisted in the recruitment of nurses for military service through state and local committees.

1942

ANA's House of Delegates increased the membership dues from 50 cents to 75 cents, effective January 1, 1943.

At the 1942 biennial convention, May 17 – 22 in Chicago, IL, delegates adopted a motion that every four years the American Nurses' Association, National League of Nursing Education, and National Organization for Public Health Nursing would hold a joint convention. Convention theme: "Nursing at the Nation's Service".

ANA endorsed a course for volunteer nurses' aides established by the American Red Cross and the Office of Civilian Defense.

ANA published a Study of Organization, Control, and Financing of Nurses' Professional Registries.

The National Association for Practical Nurse Education was organized.

1943

The U. S. Cadet Nurse Corps was created in an attempt to bring more students into nursing schools.

ANA obtained a hearing before the U. S. Commissioner of Internal Revenue which resulted in a ruling that the costs of nursing uniforms could be deducted for income tax purposes.

ANA assisted the War Manpower Commission in a study of civilian hospital services. ANA established a Clearing Bureau on State Board Problems.

The National League of Nursing Education broadened its membership base to include lay members.

1944

ANA worked to secure passage of legislation granting commissioned rank to nurses in military services.

A Statistics and Research Unit was established at the association headquarters. ANA made a study of the implications of the Social Security Act for nurses.

The ANA Bylaws were amended in order that no officer is elected to the same office for more than two successive terms.

Katharine J. Densford Dreves (Minnesota) elected president of the American Nurses Association, 1944 – 1948.

The ANA convention was held June 5 – 8 in Buffalo, NY. Convention theme: none.

As a result of the action of ANA's Board of Directors in June 1944, the name and status of the Clearing Bureau on Problems of State Boards of Nurse Examiners was changed to the Bureau of State Boards of Nurse Examiners. One function of this body was to devise methods and procedures for bringing about desirable and reasonable uniformity in relation to standards, regulations, examinations, and records.

ANA organized sections for industrial nurses and administrators of nursing services in hospitals.

The three national nursing organizations adopted a recommendation favoring the expansion of health insurance plans to provide for nursing service, including nursing care in the home. The organizations expressed the belief that, in addition to voluntary effort, governmental assistance was necessary for obtaining adequate distribution of health services.

ANA delegates adopted an amendment to the bylaws which designated the state association as the constituent association of the American Nurses' Association. According to the bylaw revision, registered nurses belonging to state nurses' associations automatically became members of the ANA.

1945

ANA spearheaded a national collection of uniforms and clothing for nurses in war-devastated countries.

ANA organized a campaign to restore the American Nurses' Memorial at the Florence Nightingale School of Nursing at Bordeaux, France.

ANA intensified efforts to recruit nurses for military service as an alternative to President Roosevelt's proposal to draft nurses into military services.

On May 25, 1945, ANA's Professional Counseling and Placement Service was officially organized and incorporated. The service provided counseling and job placement services without fee to all registered nurses, including non-members, student nurses, practical nurses, and employers. Special attention was given to the needs of nurses demobilized from military service.

On September 1, 1945, the Nurse Placement Service, Midwest Bureau, was acquired and reorganized as the branch office of the Professional Counseling and Placement Service of the American Nurses' Association.

ANA analyzed the postwar plans of approximately 60,000 civilian nurses. ANA also cooperated with the Red Cross in analyzing postwar plans of 41,000 Army and Navy nurses.

The National Nursing Planning Committee published a Comprehensive Program for Nationwide Action in the Field of Nursing.

1946

ANA was successful in obtaining professional status classification for nurses from the U. S. Civil Service Commission.

ANA's Professional Counseling and Placement Service issued criteria to guide state units in developing their own placement services.

ANA established a Committee on Employment Conditions of Nurses to explore the association's resources for assisting nurses to obtain needed improvements in salaries and working conditions.

The ANA House of Delegates voted to inaugurate an Economic Security Program, a long-range comprehensive program to stabilize nursing services, improve working conditions, and provide immediate and long-term economic security for nurses in all fields. State nurses' associations were urged to conduct active programs, including collective bargaining for nurses.

The ANA convention was held September 23 – 27 in Atlantic City, NJ. Convention theme: "Nursing in the Nation's Plan for Health."

The ANA Board of Directors appointed a committee of one nurse representative from each state board of nursing, "The Special Committee of State Boards of Nursing."

The ANA House of Delegates endorsed the 8-hour day, 40-hour week for all nurses and called for the elimination of discrimination against minority groups.

In April 1946, Raymond Rich Associates was selected to undertake a detailed study of the organizational structure, functions, and facilities of the six national nursing organizations.

ANA delegates adopted the first association platform.

ANA delegates voted to increase the annual dues from 75 cents to $3.00.

The Hospital Survey and Construction Act (Hill-Burton Bill) was enacted. This bill provided for a five-year federal grant-in-aid program to the states for the purpose of surveying needs, planning, and constructing necessary hospital and health centers.

1947

ANA hosted the Ninth Congress of the International Council of Nurses in Atlantic City. Army and Navy nurses were granted permanent commissioned officer status.

ANA initiated a long-range public relations program to inform the public and the profession of nursing activities and interests. ANA's public relations department absorbed the Nursing Information Bureau as well as the public relations programs of the other nursing organizations.

The boards of nursing asked ANA to establish a committee of state boards of nursing to devise methods and procedures for bringing about desirable and reasonable uniformity in relation to standards, regulations, records, and examinations.

The first special session of the House of Delegates was convened in Chicago to consider reorganization proposals for the six national nursing organizations.

1948

The Joint Committee on the Structure of National Nursing Organizations presented "A Tentative Plan for One National Nursing Organization."

The World Health Organization was permanently established in Geneva, Switzerland. The International Council of Nurses became the official representative of nurses to the WHO meetings.

ANA celebrated the Diamond Jubilee of Nursing by calling attention to the progress of nursing in the United States.

ANA participated in a study of the Florence Nightingale International Foundation which resulted in the foundation's inclusion as a functional unit of the International Council of Nurses. .

ANA delegates adopted measures (bylaw revisions) to provide direct individual membership for Negro nurses restricted from membership in the state nurses' association.

Pearl McIver (District of Columbia) elected president of the American Nurses Association, 1948 – 1950.

The ANA convention was held May 31 – June 4 in Chicago, IL. Convention theme: "America's Nursing Care – A Professional Challenge and a Public Responsibility".

ANA joined with five other nursing organizations, to establish a joint board to facilitate official cooperation on mutual projects.

Esther Lucile Brown published the findings of a study on nursing education in the book entitled Nursing for the Future.

ANA delegates amended the bylaws to permit state nurses' associations to grant associate membership to certain qualified nurses who were not in active practice.

The Committee on the Function of Nursing (Teachers College) published a book entitled A Program for the Nursing Profession which dealt with shortages of nursing personnel.

ANA, at the request of the National Security Resources Board, contracted to establish and maintain a biennial inventory of nurses in the United States, Alaska, Hawaii, and Puerto Rico. The first inventory was completed in 1948.

1949

ANA was accredited as an observer to the United Nations. The Association of Operating Room Nurses was established.

The joint boards of ANA, NLNE, NOPHN, NACGN, ASCN, and AAIN merged to establish the National Nursing Accrediting Service. The first lists of accredited schools of nursing were issued in October 1949.

The National Federation of Licensed Practical Nurses was established.

The ANA Board of Directors authorized the establishment of a special committee to study the functions of the National Association of Colored Graduate Nurses as they related to the total program of the association.

The Joint Committee on the Structure of National Nursing Organizations offered two alternate plans for reorganization: a one-organization plan and a two-organization plan.

ANA created a committee on films to review and advise on motion pictures and other audiovisual items of interest to nurses.

1950

ANA's House of Delegates adopted an intergroup relations program to work for full integration of nurses of all racial groups in all aspects of nursing.

ANA endorsed a five-year study of all phases of nursing. ANA adopted a code of ethics for professional nursing.

ANA appointed a committee on nursing resources to meet civil and military needs.

ANA's House of Delegates approved criteria for the evaluation of state economic security programs in relation to ANA policy.

Elizabeth K. Porter (Ohio) elected president of the American Nurses Association, 1950 – 1954.

The ANA convention was held May 7 – 12 in San Francisco, CA. Convention theme:

“Health – A Unifying World Influence: Nursing Accepts the Role.”

State Board Committee and Conference became a structural part of ANA with the approval of both ANA and NLN.

ANA affirmed the nurse's voluntary relinquishment of the right to strike and insisted that this voluntary no-strike guarantee obligated employers to recognize and deal justly with nurses through their authorized representatives.

ANA's House of Delegates approved a policy to guide nurses as to their proper conduct and professional obligations when labor-management disputes occurred in industry or other agencies where nurses were employed.

ANA established a clearinghouse for studies at its headquarters office which provided a central source of information on research projects, completed and in progress, of interest to the profession.

ANA's House of Delegates endorsed a two-organization plan for reorganization of the national nursing organizations.

Between 1950 and 1951, the functions and responsibilities of the National Association of Colored Graduate Nurses were absorbed by the American Nurses' Association.

1951

In January 1951, the National Association of Colored Nurse Graduates was officially dissolved. ANA established a professional liability insurance plan.

ANA expanded its Intergroup Relations Program.

ANA made the first five grants from the Studies of Nursing Functions Funds to assist research projects proposed by state associations or agencies in California, Massachusetts, Minnesota, New York, and Rhode Island.

ANA opened a government relations office in Washington, D.C.

ANA representatives attended the fifth session of the U.N. Commission on Status of Women, where the first item on nursing appeared on the agenda as submitted by the World Health Organization. The commission requested the Secretary-General to draw attention of U.N. members to the importance of raising the status and legal protection of nursing in all countries as an important part of improving the status of women.

Contributions of state associations for restoration of the American Nurses' Memorial at Bordeaux, France, reached $56,138.00.

ANA headquarters were moved to Two Park Avenue, New York City.

On February 6, 1951, ANA filed a statement with the Wage Stabilization Board presenting the views of nurses regarding the establishment of an equitable wage policy to meet the particular problems of professional nurses. On February 20, 1951, General Wage Regulation 7 was issued which substantially exempted employees of nonprofit organizations from wage stabilization controls.

1951

Alaska Nurses Association becomes a constituent association of the American Nurses Association.

Estimated total number of professional registered nurses in the US – 556,617; of this total 334,733 are active in nursing and 221,884 are inactive.

1952

ANA prepared a Manual for an Economic Security Program.

The Mary Mahoney Award, initiated and previously bestowed by the National Association of Colored Graduate Nurses, was presented for the first time at the ANA convention. The award is named for Mary Eliza Mahoney, the first African American graduate nurse in the United States. It was established to honor her active participation in nursing organizations and her efforts to raise the status of African American nurses in professional life. The Mary Mahoney Award recognized significant contributions, by an individual nurse or a group of nurses, to integration within the nursing profession.

The House of Delegates amended the constitution and bylaws to implement reorganization of the national nursing organizations. ANA remained the national membership association for professional nurses and endorsed the establishment of the National League for Nursing Education and provided machinery for cooperative work with this new organization.

The National Student Nurses Association was established under the Joint (ANA/NLNE) Coordinating Council.

The House of Delegates adopts a neutral position on the question of compulsory health insurance.

The ANA convention was held June 16 – 20 in Atlantic City, NJ. Convention theme: "Nursing United Promotes New Health Goals".

The National Organization for Public Health Nursing and the Association of Collegiate Schools of Nursing were dissolved.

ANA established seven sections, representing occupational groups of professional nurses.

ANA delegates approved an increase in dues from $3.00 to $5.00.

ANA's House of Delegates authorized the board of directors to approve legislation for selective service for nurses, if such legislation was introduced during a national emergency.

1953

ANA's Board of Directors adopted a statement on principles of legislation relating to the practice of nursing.

In August 1953, ANA's Professional Counseling and Placement Services (PC&PS) was reorganized. Major administrative functions were transferred to the Chicago office where counseling and placement activities on the national level were to be centered.

1954

The Virgin Islands Nurses' Association becomes a constituent association of the American Nurses' Association.

As a result of revision of the ANA Bylaws, the ANA Committee on Economic and General Welfare became a standing committee.

ANA delegates adopted a recommendation to "secure information and to develop a foundation or trust for receiving tax-free funds for desirable charitable, scientific, literary, or educational projects in line with the aims and purposes of the American Nurses' Association."

The first Honorary Recognition Award is presented to Katherine DeWitt at the biennial convention. Honorary Recognition is one of the highest honors the association can accord. This award is given only to persons who have rendered distinguished service or valuable assistance to the nursing profession, and whose contributions and accomplishments are of national or international significance to nursing.

The ANA Board of Directors approved the maintenance of one national committee on legislation. Agnes Ohlson (Connecticut) elected president of the American Nurses Association, 1954 – 1958.

The ANA convention was held April 26 – 30 in Chicago, IL. Convention theme: "Calling American Nurses to Action".

ANA's House of Delegates created a Committee on Current and Long-Term Goals to prepare a proposed association platform, to develop a statement of long-term goals of the association, and to make recommendations with regard to services which the association could offer its constituencies. In 1955, the board of directors extended the committee's functions to include an inventory of major problems and goals of ANA in priority arrangement.

Estimate of professional nurses employed in nursing, 401,600.

The first statements on functions were approved by ANA sections, marking the first step in the program of outlining functions, standards, and qualifications for nursing practice.

By 1954, all but one state nurses' association had changed their bylaws to ban discrimination in accordance with ANA's policy.

1955

The American Nurses' Foundation (ANF) is established as a separately incorporated ANA subsidiary.

The American College of Nurse Midwives was organized.

ANA's Board of Directors approved a definition of the practice of nursing designed to meet the purposes of licensing legislation.

Male nurses were first commissioned to the Army Nurse Corps.

1956

The first Public Health Nurse Award was bestowed upon Pearl McIver by the Public Health Nurses Section of the American Nurses Association at the ANA convention. The award recognized the outstanding professional contribution of one public health nurse and calls this achievement to the attention of members of the profession as well as the general public.

The ANA convention was held May 14 – 18 in Chicago, IL. Convention theme: "Working for America's Health".

Estimate of the number of professional nurses employed in nursing, 430,000.

1957

In January 1957, the boards of directors of the National Federation of Licensed Practical Nurses and the American Nurses' Association approved a statement on the functions of the licensed practical nurse.

Nondiscrimination in minimum employment standards and in contracts was adopted as an economic security goal.

1958

ANA delegates voted to increase the annual dues from $5.00 to $7.50.

ANA's Professional Counseling and Placement Services (PC&PS) restricts its placement service to ANA membership.

ANA's House of Delegates endorsed health care as a right of all people and urged the extension of social security to include health insurance for beneficiaries of old age, survivors, and disability insurance.

Mathilda Scheuer (Pennsylvania) elected president of the American Nurses Association, 1958 – 1962.

The ANA convention was held June 9 – 13 in Atlantic City, NJ. Convention theme: “Professional Nurse-Practitioner and Citizen”.

For the first time in the history of the ANA, a liaison committee was formed with the American Medical Association.

Estimate of the number of professional nurses employed in nursing, 460,000.

Membership in the ANA increased by 9,097 or five percent from 1957 to 1958. The total of 190,463 was the highest recorded since the organization was founded and represented the largest yearly increase in over a decade.

1959

Effective January 1, 1959, ANA's Professional Counseling and Placement Services (PC&PS) operation was restricted to ANA members and first-year professional nurse graduates.

Nurses living abroad were admitted to ANA membership on an individual basis for the first time.

ANA's Board of Directors approved a revised statement on principles of legislation relating to public funds for collegiate nursing education.

In April 1959, ANA moved its headquarters offices and the Professional Counseling and Placement Services (PC&PS) office, formerly in Chicago, to 10 Columbus Circle, New York, NY.

Requirements for the mandatory licensure of professional nurses were enacted in Maine and New Hampshire.

1960

ANA's Board of Directors authorized the Professional Counseling and Placement Services (PC&PS) committee to conduct a study to evaluate the direct counseling and placement services given to individual members.

ANA published a statement on standards for nursing care in nursing homes. ANA revised the Code for Professional Nurses.

The passage of the Labor-Management Reporting and Disclosure Act of 1959 (Landrum-Griffin Law) necessitated the ANA Bylaws be amended to allow for convention delegates to be selected by secret ballot and the records pertaining to the elections be preserved for one year.

Estimated number of professional nurses employed in nursing, 504,000.

The ANA convention was held May 2 – 6 in Miami Beach, FL. Convention theme: none.

The House of Delegates adopted a motion that the ANA take immediate steps to secure compulsory social security coverage for nurses in all types of employment.

The House of Delegates adopted a plank to continue to elevate the standards of nursing education by formulating principles of the education essential for effective nursing practice.

1961

ANA's Board of Directors authorized the formation of a committee on nursing service and a committee on nursing education.

ANA's Board of Directors approved a recommendation that a joint committee of the American Nurses' Association and the National Student Nurses' Association for consideration of common interests and goals.

1962

ANA membership dues were increased to $12.50. ANA held its first clinical sessions.

The House of Delegates amended the bylaws to restate the purposes and functions of the ANA, adding specific provisions for new functions in the areas of nursing education and nursing services.

Margaret B. Dolan (North Carolina) elected president of the American Nurses Association, 1962 – 1964.

The ANA convention was held May 14 – 18 in Detroit, MI. Convention theme: "Excellence in Nursing Progress in Health".

In June 1962, the U. S. Public Health Service contracted with ANA to conduct an inventory of professional nurses. The estimated number of professional nurses employed full and part-time in nursing is 550,000.

By the end of 1962, all state nurses' associations accepted all qualified registered nurses into membership, regardless of race, color, or creed.

1963

ANA received a special project grant of $10,000 from the National Institute of Mental Health for the purpose of defining the role of the nurse in the community mental health center and making recommendations for continuing education of current practitioners to prepare them to assume this role.

The Surgeon General's Consultant Group on Nursing published a report entitled Toward

Quality in Nursing: Needs and Goals.

Between 1963 and 1964, ANA conducted pilot projects on central billing.

1964

In February 1964, the American Nurses' Association and the American Medical Association co-sponsored a two-day conference on "Medical and Nursing Practice in a Changing World."

The House of Delegates adopted a motion that the board of directors appoints a committee to study and report at the 1966 convention on the feasibility of and/or a plan for the establishment of an academy of nursing.

The House of Delegates adopted a recommendation that ANA continue to work toward baccalaureate education as the educational foundation for professional nursing practice.

Jo Eleanor Elliott (Colorado) elected president of the American Nurses Association, 1964 – 1968.

The ANA convention was held June 9 – 13 in Atlantic City, NJ. Convention theme: "Knowledge Explosion – It's Impact for Nursing and Health Care".

Congress passed the Nurse Training Act of 1964, the first federal law to give comprehensive assistance for nursing education.

The estimated number of professional nurses employed full and part-time in nursing is 582,000.

1965

ANA published policies and recommendations on health occupations supportive to nursing.

ANA's Board of Directors developed a position paper on educational preparation for nurse practitioners and assistants to nurses.

ANA's Board of Directors authorized formation of a liaison committee of the American Nurses' Association and the American Hospital Association.

ANA published Standards for Organized Nursing Services.

1966

Health insurance for the aged became a benefit of the nation's social insurance system as a result of passage of the Social Security Amendments of 1965.

The House of Delegates adopted an organizational plan calling for divisions on practice and commissions on nursing service, nursing education, and economic and general welfare.

The House of Delegates adopted a recommendation that the principle of central billing and dues collection be adopted by the association.

The ANA convention was held June 9 – 13 in San Francisco, CA. Convention theme: “Challenge of Today – Directions for Tomorrow”.

The name of the association's PC&PS service was changed from Professional Counseling and Placement Service to Professional Credentials and Personnel Service.

In September 1966, ANA's Board of Directors appointed the organizing committees for the divisions on practice and occupational forums and named the first members of the commissions on nursing education, nursing service, and economic and general welfare.

Legislation for comprehensive health planning was enacted into law. ANA's Board of Directors approved a statement on family planning.

President Johnson appointed the National Advisory Commission on Health Manpower.

In 1966, 909,131 registered nurses held licenses to practice. Of that total 593,694 were employed in nursing; 285,791 were not, and 29,646 failed to indicate employment status.

ANA was instrumental in having legislation introduced to raise the rank of chief nurses of the armed services nurse corps to top officer rank and to provide for an increased number of nurse officers to attain the grade of colonel, lieutenant colonel, and major or captain, commander, and lieutenant commander.

1967

In January 1967, the operations of ANA's Legislative Department and the Washington Office were combined to form the Government Relations Department.

A joint committee of representatives of the American Nurses' Association and the American Society of Hospital Pharmacists was established.

The ANA-NLN Careers Program was initiated.

ANA was awarded a $50,000 grant by the Department of Labor to establish a national program to return inactive licensed nurses to practice through enrollment in refresher courses. To augment this program, ANA entered into a $99,800 informational and educational contract with HEW's Division of Nursing.

ANA's Statement on Psychiatric Nursing was published.

The Board of Directors authorized a comprehensive study of the state board test pool examination.

The Distinguished Membership Award is established by the Board of Directors and is presented to a Constituent Member Association member or members in recognition of outstanding leadership and participation in and contributions to the purposes of the American Nurses Association.

ANA's Board of Directors adopted a resolution to support a program of the U. S. Public Health Service which had as its goal the elimination of measles in the United States by the end of 1967.

The estimated number of registered nurses, practicing nursing, is 640,000. ANA published Avenues for Continued Learning.

Delegates to the annual National Student Nurses' Association convention voted to support ANA's position paper on nursing education.

ANA published a statement on nursing staff requirements for inpatient health care facilities. The National Commission for the Study of Nursing and Nursing Education was established.

1968

The Guam Nurses' Association was admitted as a constituent association with "limited constituent status."

The Nurses' Association of the American College of Obstetricians and Gynecologists was established.

ANA's Board of Directors adopted a statement on the health hazards of smoking.

The House of Delegates adopted a recommendation to study state legislation on abortion.

The House of Delegates voted to charge a fee for the association's Professional Credentials and Personnel Service.

Dorothy A. Cornelius (Ohio) elected president of the American Nurses Association, 1968 – 1970.

The ANA convention was held May 9 – 12 in Dallas, TX. Convention theme: "Positive Action for Meeting Health Needs".

The House of Delegates rescinded the association's 18-year-old no-strike policy.

The House of Delegates adopted a new Code for Nurses which delineated the ethical principles of practice.

The House of Delegates authorized the establishment of the Congress for Nursing Practice. The estimated number of registered nursing employed in nursing is 659,000.

ANA published The Nurse in Research: ANA Guidelines on Ethical Values. Interim certification boards held their first meetings.

The American Association of Nephrology Nurses was established. The American Association of Neurosurgical Nurses was established.

The National Education Association established a Department of School Nurses.

1969

ANA's Board of Directors established a task force to explore more effective ways of meeting the high costs of operating essential association programs.

ANA's Board of Directors appointed an ad hoc committee on ways to enter the academy of nurses.

ANA's Board of Directors established a committee to consider questions of interrelationships between the commissions, congress, and board of directors.

ANA issued a statement on graduate education in nursing.

The estimated number of registered nurses employed in nursing is 680,000. The American Association of Critical Care Nurses was organized.

1970

ANA's Board of Directors adopted a statement on new careerists.

The National Commission for the Study of Nursing and Nursing Education published An Abstract for Action, a series of recommendations concerning the improvement of nursing and nursing education.

The House of Delegates approved measures to create a Commission on Nursing Research.

The House of Delegates action on planning for health manpower agreed to: seek active participation with groups studying new approaches to the delivery of health services; see active involvement in assessing the need for and defining the scope of practice for new health workers; take positive action in the following areas – establishing the right of the nursing profession to determine its own scope of the practice of nursing with continued efforts to remove non-nursing activities from the practice of nursing – defining appropriate education and training needs for assistants to nursing, and – retaining for nurses the responsibility for nursing care.

The House of Delegates voted to increase ANA dues from $12.50 to $25.00.

Hildegard E. Peplau (New Jersey) elected president of the American Nurses Association, 1970 – 1972.

The ANA convention was held May 3 – 8 in Miami Beach, FL. Convention theme: “Be Involved” The House of Delegates approved a bylaw provision for a new associate member category.

The estimated number of registered nurses employed in nursing is 700,000. The House of Delegates approved a recommendation that a study be undertaken to find the most desirable location for ANA's national headquarters.

A joint committee was established between ANA's Division on Maternal and Child Health Nursing Practice and the American Academy of Pediatrics to provide an official liaison mechanism between these organizations.

The American Urological Association Allied was established.

1971

The boards of directors of the American Academy of Pediatrics and the American Nurses' Association simultaneously released a joint statement entitled "Guidelines for Short-Term Continuing Education Programs for Pediatric Nurse Associates."

ANA authorized the establishment of a Council of Nurse Researchers and a Council on Continuing Education.

The Nurse Training Act of 1971 included, for the first time, authorization for basic support grants for nursing programs.

ANA was awarded a one-year $42,000 grant for a project entitled "Identification of Need for Continuing Education for Nurses by the National Professional Organization."

ANA utilized a one-year $40,000 grant from the National Institute of Mental Health to develop guidelines for drug abuse curricula in nursing education programs.

ANA endorsed a national moratorium on licensure for new health professionals. The estimated number of registered nurses employed in nursing is 723,000.

The Council of National Representatives of the International Council of Nurses adopted a resolution endorsing the U.N. Universal Declaration of Human Rights and requesting its member associations "to take the appropriate steps to support and implement the objective" of the statement.

The Commission on Nursing Services developed a statement on the essential elements of a health care system.

The Congress for Nursing Practice issued guidelines for certification.

In the first recorded mass resignation over strictly non-economic issues, registered nurses at an Ames, Iowa, hospital resigned in a body when the hospital administration refused to negotiate on issues, including a patient care committee, an orientation program for new staff members, paid educational leave to attend seminars and workshops, and a nursing care committee.

The National Emergency Department Nurses' Association was established.

1972

In February 1972, ANA's membership publication, ANA In Action, was renamed The American Nurse.

A contract for $355,760 to conduct the project entitled "Training of RNs Providing Patient Care in Nursing Homes" was signed with Health Education and Welfare's Community Health Service on June 2, 1972. This contract was designed to improve patient care in nursing homes by upgrading geriatric nursing care through continuing education.

ANA's Board of Directors established a task force to study the financial structure of the organization.

Rosamond C. Gabrielson (Arizona) elected president of the American Nurses Association, 1972 – 1976.

The ANA convention was held May 1 – 5 in Detroit, MI. Convention theme:

none. The Orthopedic Nurses' Association, Inc. was established.

In September 1972, ANA opened its headquarters in Kansas City,

Mo. ANA-AHA sponsored the first joint institute.

The estimated number of registered nurses in the US employed in nursing is 780,000. ANA's Task Force for Affirmative Action held its first meeting in November 1972.

The House of Delegates went on record as opposed to institutional licensure which would cover individual practitioners.

1973

The American Academy of Nursing was initiated on January 31, 1973, with the adoption of a resolution by the ANA Board of Directors which designated thirty-six charter fellows, named pro tem officers, and directed that specific action be taken to establish the academy.

ANA was awarded an 18-month $112,338 contract by the Bureau of Health Manpower Education to obtain statistical and descriptive data on foreign nurse graduate applicants for RN licensure in the United States.

Standards of Community Health, Maternal and Child Health, Geriatric, and Psychiatric and Mental Health Nursing Practice were published. In addition, a generic set of Standards of Nursing Practice was published.

ANA's Commission on Nursing Services revised the Standards for Nursing Services. The Council on Continuing Education and the Council of Pediatric Nurse Practitioners held their first business meetings.

The estimated number of registered nurses employed in nursing, 815,000.

The National Association of Pediatric Nurse Associates and Practitioners was organized. Thirty-six charter fellows were chosen for the American Academy of Nursing.

The Federation of Nursing Specialty Organizations was established.

ANA filed charges against the nation's largest university pension underwriter on March 2, 1973, for discrimination on the basis of sex.

ANA's National Retirement Plan was established on April 13, 1973.

Criteria were developed for ANA certification of geriatric nurses, pediatric nurses in ambulatory care, and psychiatric nurses.

In November 1973, the American Nurses' Association was requested by the Senate Subcommittee on Long-Term Care to prepare a report regarding the problems of providing skilled nursing care in intermediate and extended care facilities.

ANA issued a statement on diploma nurse education.

ANA developed guidelines for the establishment of peer review committees.

1974

Health Education and Welfare's Division on Research, Maternal and Child Health Services, approved and funded ANA's project proposal on the "Impact of Pediatric Nurse Practitioner Programs: An Exploratory and Methodological Study."

In January 1974, the Standards of Medical-Surgical Nursing Practice were developed for publication.

On April 1, 1974, the American Nurses' Foundation moved its office from New York City to Kansas City, MO.

The Council of Nursing Service Facilitators, the Council of Family Nurse Practitioners and Clinicians, the Council of Advanced Practitioners in Medical-Surgical Nursing, and the Council of Advanced Practitioners in Psychiatric and Mental Health Nursing held their first business meetings at the ANA convention.

The ANA convention was held June 9 – 14 in San Francisco, CA. Convention theme: "Special Interest – Common Goals".

The first ANA Honorary Practitioner Award was presented at the forty-ninth convention.

ANA's Task Force on Affirmative Action established an ombudsman's office at ANA headquarters. ANA's Board of Directors approved the establishment of a Council of School Nurses.

The Honorary Nursing Practice Award is established to acknowledge registered nurses who are involved in direct patient care. The recipient, through strength of character, commitment, and competence, receives recognition by peer as one who contributes to the advancement of nursing practice. This nurse also participates in community and organizational affairs, demonstrates an ability to work with others, and has an innovative outlook.

ANA published Standards for Continuing Education in Nursing and ANA Continuing Education Guidelines for State Nurses Associations.

ANA issued a statement on the scope of practice of pediatric nurse practitioners. The estimated number of registered nurses employed in nursing, 857,000.

The Nurses' Coalition for Action in Politics was established as a political action arm of the American Nurses' Association.

The Congress for Nursing Practice issued definitions of the terms "nurse practitioner," "nurse clinician," and "clinical nurse specialist."

ANA's Commission on Economic and General Welfare issued a statement on third-party payments for the services of independent nurse practitioners.

The House of Delegates adopted a position on national health insurance which called for a comprehensive system of health insurance benefits for all Americans.

The House of Delegates adopted a motion to examine the feasibility of accreditation of basic and graduate nursing education.

The first ANA Trans-Pacific Nursing Conference was held.

ANA held one invitational conference on accreditation to prepare a formal proposal for a study of the feasibility of accreditation of basic and graduate education for nursing by the ANA.

ANA expanded its programming to offer additional support to constituent associations in implementing economic and general welfare activities.

Ninety-nine registered nurses were certified by ANA for excellence in clinical nursing practice in geriatric and pediatric nursing in ambulatory care.

Three sets of standards were developed jointly by ANA's Division on Medical-Surgical Nursing Practice and specialty organizations: Standards of Cardiovascular Nursing Practice, Standards of Nursing Practice: Operating Room, and Standards of Orthopedic Nursing Practice.

The Commission on Nursing Education drafted standards for nursing education.

Twenty-six ANA members were selected for admission to the American Academy of Nursing.

ANA was awarded a major contract to develop criteria for measuring the quality and effectiveness of nursing care and to recommend ways in which nursing can participate in professional standards review organizations.

ANA receives a $1 million grant to provide thirty-five graduate fellowships in nursing for registered nurses who are members of ethnic minorities. It is a six-year project. This project continues to be funded as the Ethnic Minority Fellowship Program, and then as the Minority Fellowship Program.

ANA held formal ceremonies on January 6, 1975, to honor the first nurses certified by the association.

ANA hosted a second invitational conference on accreditation.

The Commission on Nursing Education completed details on a mechanism to approve nurse practitioner programs which are non-degree granting.

The Commission on Nursing Education formed a National Accreditation Board for Continuing Education Programs and a National Review Committee for Expanded Role Programs.

ANA's report, "Nursing and Long-Term Care: Toward Quality Care of the Aging," was officially presented to the Senate Subcommittee on Long-Term Care.

ANA established a fund to be used to promote ratification of the Equal Rights Amendment.

ANA's Division on Maternal and Child Health Nursing Practice and the Nurses' Association of the American College of Obstetricians and Gynecologists initiated a joint certification program in maternal, gynecological and neonatal nursing.

The estimated number of registered nurses employed in nursing, 961,000.

Ninety-two registered nurses in psychiatric and mental health nursing and twenty-six registered nurses in community health nursing were certified by the association.

ANA was approved for a general institutional assurance for the protection of human subjects by the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, Office of Protection from Research Risks.

ANA endorsed a campaign for immunization update.

The International Council of Nurses accepted the invitation of the American Nurses' Association to host the council's quadrennial congress in 1981 in Kansas City, Missouri.

The American Academy of Nurses admitted thirty-three members.

1975 marked the seventy-fifth anniversary of the American Journal of Nursing Company.

At the request of the White House and the U. S. Department of State, ANA formed the Advisory Committee on Vietnamese Nursing Personnel.

ANA's Affirmative Action Task Force published "Affirmative Action Programming for the Nursing Profession Through the American Nurses' Association," a brochure outlining a model affirmative action plan.

The Congress for Nursing Practice revised the statements on scope of practice and the model practice act.

ANA's Division on Medical-Surgical Nursing Practice and the Emergency Department Nurses' Association published Standards of Emergency Nursing Practice.

ANA's Board of Directors established the Shirley Titus Award in recognition of individual nurse contributions to the association's economic and general welfare program.

In accord with a directive from the 1974 House of Delegates, ANA's Board of Directors approved a fee schedule for accreditation of continuing education activities of state nurses' associations, organizations with approval processes, colleges, and universities.

The Commission on Nursing Education and the Congress for Nursing Practice sponsored a meeting on the accreditation of continuing education programs in nursing and the implementation of standards of nursing practice.

ANA's Division on Medical-Surgical Nursing Practice formed a Task Force on Nursing in High Blood Pressure Control under the National Blood Pressure Education Program.

The executive committees of the ANA and the AMA met in Chicago to explore common concerns. The discussions included national health insurance, Professional Standards Review Organizations (PSRO), National Joint Practice Commission and Joint Commission on Accreditation.

ANA's Affirmative Action Task Force held two regional conferences which focused on improving nursing care and health care delivery for ethnic/minority consumers and on promoting affirmative action programs in nursing.

During 1975, ANA published the following documents: Standards for Nursing Education, Accreditation of Continuing Education in Nursing, Accreditation of Continuing Education

Programs Preparing Nurses for Expanded Roles, Continuing Education in Nursing Guidelines for State Voluntary and Mandatory Systems, Continuing Education in Nursing-Guidelines for Staff Development, and A Plan for Implementation of the Standards of Nursing Practice.

1976

ANA's report, "Nursing and Long-Term Care: Toward Quality Care of the Aging" was officially presented to the Senate Subcommittee on Long-Term Care.

Nurse Training and Health Services Bill, vetoed by President Ford, is overridden by Congress, recognizing the existing and expanding roles for nurses in delivering health care.

Anne Zimmerman (Illinois) elected president of the American Nurses Association, 1976 – 1978.

The ANA convention was held June 6 – 11 in Atlantic City, NJ. Convention theme: “A Past to Remember / A Future to Shape”.

The estimated number of registered nurses employed in nursing, 961,000.

The first inductees into the “ANA Hall of Fame” are: Dorothea Lynde Dix, Linda Anne Judson Richards, Mary Eliza Mahoney, Isabel Adams Hampton Robb, Sophia F. Palmer, Lavina Lloyd Dock, Lillian D. Wald, Annie Warburton Goodrich, Martha M. Franklin, Mary Adelaide Nutting, Margaret Sanger, and Isabel Maitland Steward. This prestigious award recognized an individual’s lifelong commitment to the field of nursing and its impact on the health and/or social history of the United States.

The Shirley Titus Award is established in recognition of Shirley Titus who, at the 1946 convention of the American Nurses Association, urged that ANA formally launch an economic and general welfare program. The purpose of the award is to recognize the contribution that an individual nurse has made in the ANA economic and general welfare program.

1977

ANA introduces health services bill to expand primary care services and encourages, where practicable in shortage areas, utilization of nurse practitioners in concert with physicians.

Research programs under the Division of Nursing and adding the Division of Nursing to other divisions of Health Education and Welfare, authorizing a peer review committee for review of nursing research projects by law.

The estimated number of registered nurses employed in nursing, 1,055,400.

1978

ANA proposes a bill to revise the system of federal funding for mental health, requiring the states to provide comprehensive planning and coordination of programs.

ANA agrees to support and work for the extension of the deadline for ratification of the Equal Rights amendment.

ANA emphasizes that nurses bear primary responsibility for the quality of nursing care that consumers receive. The association expands educational and consulting services in quality assurance to help nurses implement evaluation programs.

ANA's Council of State Boards of Nursing voted to establish a separate, autonomous, nonprofit body, the National Council of State Boards of Nursing, Inc. (NCSBN)

ANA reaffirms its commitment to a national health insurance program that will guarantee access to quality health care services for all and urges that national health policy recognize nurses as essential providers of care.

Barbara L. Nichols (Wisconsin) elected president of the American Nurses Association, 1978 – 1982.

The ANA convention was held June 9 – 14 in Honolulu, HI. Convention theme: "Tomorrow's Health / Today's Challenge".

The estimated number of registered nurses employed in nursing, 1,123,200.

1979

The Jessie M. Scott Award is established to honor Jessie M. Scott, former assistant surgeon general and director of the Division of Nursing, Health Resources Administration, Public Health Service, of the U.S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare. The award is presented to a registered nurse whose accomplishments in a field of practice, education, or research demonstrate the interdependence of these elements and their significance for the improvement of nursing and health care.

The estimated number of registered nurses employed in nursing, 1,199,700.

1980

ANA played a major role in getting an amendment passed prohibiting hospitals from using Medicare funds for anti-union activities.

The Board of Directors reaffirms the organization's commitment to assure minority representation in nursing.

ANA endorses "Nursing: A Social Policy Statement" which defines nursing and its scope of practice.

The ANA convention was held June 8 – 13 in Huston, TX. Convention theme: "The 80's Decade for Decision".

In 1980, the first survey of the registered nurse population by the Department of Health and Human Services indicates there were 1,272,900 registered nurses who were employed in nursing.

1981

An amendment is passed aimed at keeping hospitals in the Social Security system, reducing Medicare reimbursements to hospitals that withdraw from the system.

The estimated number of registered nurses employed in nursing, 1,315,500.

1982

ANA leads a coalition opposing an amendment to establish a Medicare voucher system allowing beneficiaries to purchase private health insurance.

Recognizing that the federal government's role in providing access to basic health services for all at-risk groups is diminishing due to financial pressures, ANA makes it a priority to urge the federal government to assure access to quality care to the poor, the aged, the unemployed, women and children, the physically disabled, and the chronically mentally disabled.

ANA endorse the right of employees to receive equal compensation for performing work of comparable worth or value regardless of sex.

Eunice R. Cole (Washington) elected president of the American Nurses Association, 1982 – 1986.

The ANA convention was held June 25 – July 1 in Washington, DC. Convention theme: "A Force for the Nation's Health".

In June, the ANA House of Delegates adopted bylaws changing ANA from an individual membership organization to a modified federation of SNAs. This action culminated 12 years of study.

ANA House of Delegates adopts a Federation Model for the organizational structure. The House of Delegates supports the concept of an internal ANA Center for Credentialing.

The estimated number of registered nurses employed in nursing, 1,379,300.

1983

Organ Transplant Bill provides grants to existing agencies to improve their ongoing activities, and to establish a computer network to match donors and recipients.

ANA Baccalaureate Completion Scholarship Fund established for ethnic/minority nurses. In order to improve the status, benefits and educational and advancement opportunities for nurses in the military, ANA agrees to encourage eligible nurses to serve, and to work with the three-nurse corps on planning for military needs and on recruitment of nurses into active duty and reserves.

Health professionals training expanded in the Alcohol, Drug Abuse and Mental Health Administration block grant beyond medicine to include other professionals to develop new methods for the prevention, treatment and rehabilitation of individuals who suffer from alcoholism and drug abuse.

The estimated number of registered nurses employed in nursing, 1,436,100.

1984

Increased health funding for third world nations for primary health care in developing countries and nutritional education is passed by Congress

ANA adopts a position in support of Occupational Health and Safety Administration, Rules and Standards that employees have the right to know the identity of toxic substances and infectious agents to which they have been exposed in the workplace.

The ANA convention was held June 22 – 28 in New Orleans, LA. Convention theme: “Challenges and Choices”.

The estimated number of registered nurses employed in nursing, 1,485,700.

1985

The National Center for Nursing Research is created at the National Institutes of Health.

Congress allows for direct reimbursement under Medicare Part B to nurse anesthetists employed in hospitals.

ANA pursues legislation aimed at reducing barriers to quality prenatal and perinatal care for all women, particularly those at-risk of having low birthweight babies, and legislation for safe, affordable childcare facilities.

Risk retention legislation introduced to help address situations where nurses have their malpractice insurance cancelled and are unable to obtain coverage. This bill facilitates organizations in their attempts to provide insurance to their members.

The Honorary Human Rights Award is established by the Board of Directors of the American Nurses Association and presented to a Constituent Member Association member in recognition of an outstanding commitment to human rights and exemplifying the essence of nursing’s philosophy about humanity.

The House of Delegates takes place July 22 – 25 in Kansas City, MO.

The estimated number of registered nurses employed in nursing, 1,531,200.

1986

Anti-drug legislation proposed to develop drug abuse centers, treatment services, and for the study of treatment programs.

The Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA) standard on Hazard Communication standard which had excluded nurses from the definition of “health professional” who were allowed to receive trade secret information in non-emergency situations was corrected to permit nurses and include a move by OSHA to place a nurse in a policy-making role at the agency.

Margretta M. Styles (California) elected president of the American Nurses Association, 1986 – 1988.

The ANA convention was held June 13 – 19 in Anaheim, CA. Convention theme: “Planning for Tomorrow; Securing Nursing’s Future”.

1987

ANA recommends AIDS treatment and testing programs, research and community-based health services.

ANA launches national program to help alleviate the nursing shortage, with special emphasis on recruiting applicants into nursing education programs and on improving conditions for nurse currently in the workplace.

Civil Rights Restoration Act is passed, which means any organization which receives Federal funding is required not to discriminate on the basis of race, age, and gender or physical handicap.

ANA works with the Health Care Financing Administration and Project Hope to develop Community Nursing Organizations site as well as criteria for agencies to serve in the demonstration.

The House of Delegates takes place June 6 – 9 in Kansas City, MO.

1988

The Nurse Education Act was reauthorized during this time of nursing shortage, targeting undergraduate nursing education programs for increased financial support.

ANA promotes the use of nurses to plan and implement psychological and psychosocial nursing care for clients with AIDS-related health problems.

Secretarial Commission on Nursing evaluates the causes and potential solutions to the nursing shortage providing suggested solutions for the recruitment and retention of registered nurses.

Lucille A. Joel (New Jersey) is elected president of the American Nurses Association, 1988 – 1992.

The ANA convention was held June 11 – 15 in Louisville, KY. Convention theme: “Proud to Care”.

The Vietnam Women’s Memorial bill authorizes the construction of a memorial honoring women Vietnam veterans.

The estimated number of registered nurses in the US is 2,033,032, and of those,

1,627,032 are employed in nursing.

1989

ANA acts to ensure nursing input to new studies on patient outcomes. The “Effectiveness Initiative” to include all healthcare practitioners in research by Agency for Health Care Policy and Research.

ANA supported increased Federal funding for care of HIV infected adults and children, and also supported a bill mandating the use of universal precautions to protect health care workers from blood borne diseases.

Position Statement on Reproductive Health approved, focusing on the individual’s right to privacy and free speech, equal access to care, the right to choose their health care and to have a confidential relationship with their health care provider.

ANA lobbied in support of comprehensive civil rights protection for the disabled. The House of Delegates met June 23 – 26 in Kansas City, MO.

The ANA Commission on Organizational Assessment and Renewal (COAR) report is released outlining structural changes to ANA that are implemented over the next few years.

ANA actively supported direct funding for child and elder care services as well as tax credits to offset dependent care expenses, the also included the authorization of day care centers in the Department of Veterans Affairs’ health facilities.

The Center for Ethics and Human Rights is established within the staff structure of ANA.

1990

A number of Medicare and Medicaid reimbursement initiatives earned the support of ANA including: Medicare reimbursement for nurse practitioners and clinical nurse specialist in rural areas; direct reimbursement for nurses who provide services to employees and beneficiaries under the Federal Employees Health Benefits Program; Medicaid reimbursement for services provided by family and pediatric nurse practitioners; Medicare reimbursement of nurse practitioner services to nursing home residents.

The reauthorization of health care programs for the homeless receives ANA support. The House of Delegates establishes the criteria for Organizational Affiliates.

The Hildegard Peplau Award is established to honor a nurse who has made significant contributions to nursing practice over a lifetime through scholarly activities, clinical practice, and policy development, specifically directed towards the psychosocial and psychiatric aspects of nursing care delivery.

The ANA convention was held June 15 – 20 in Boston, MA. Convention theme: “United In Caring”.

ANA supported legislation on Capitol Hill to increase funding for nursing education, Federal funding for nursing research and clinically based research; funding for research on effectiveness of care and patient outcomes; funding for nursing initiatives in rural and underserved areas.

ANA lobbied for the reauthorization of health manpower shortage programs and the recruitment and retention programs to increase the number of nurses.

Congress mandated the study of non-physician providers.

The ANA Board of Directors approved the concept for the development of a “magnet” recognition program for quality nursing services.

1991

The American Nurses Credentialing Center (ANCC) incorporated and operational on January 1st. ANCC will base its credentialing programs on the standards set by the ANA Congress on Nursing Practice and will move towards meeting the standards set by external organizations.

The ANA testified several times detailing the need for adequate funding levels for nursing programs (nursing education programs, National Center for Nursing Research); increased funding for AIDS, breast and cervical cancer screening.

“Nursing’s Agenda for Health Care Reform”, endorsed by 42 nursing organizations, is the nursing profession’s proposal for reforming the nation’s health care delivery system. “We call for a basic ‘core’ of essential health care services to be available to everyone. We call for a restructured health care system that will focus on the consumers and their health, with services to be delivered in familiar, convenient sites, such as schools, workplaces and homes. We call for a shift from the predominant focus on illness and cure to an orientation toward wellness and care.”

ANA sought through military personnel retraining appropriations to include a specific portion of the allocated funds targeted for recruitment into the nursing profession.

The “Older Americans Act” provides authorization for a wide array of comprehensive, coordinated programs, which include nurses, targeting older adults who live in the community.

The House of Delegates met June 29 – July 1 in Kansas City, MO.

The Barbara Thoman Curtis Award is established to honor a nurse who has made significant contributions to nursing practice and health policy through political and legislative activity.

1992

The “Indian Health Care Improvement Act” supported by ANA, provides opportunities for the training of nurses through the establishment of clinics operated by nurses, nurse midwives, nurse anesthetists, or nurse practitioners in cooperation with accredited schools of nursing, to provide primary health care services to eligible recipients of services of the Indian Health Service.

ANA moves its headquarters from Kansas City, MO to Washington, DC.

Virginia Trotter Betts (Tennessee) elected president of the American Nurses Association, 1992 – 1996.

The ANA convention was held June 22 – 27 in Las Vegas, NV. Convention theme: “Shaping America’s Health Care Future”.

The first Organizational Affiliates are welcomed at the House of Delegates, the Association of Rehabilitation Nurses; Association of Operating Room Nurses; and the American Society of Post- Anesthesia Nurses.

Legislation entitled the “Health Professions Education Extension Amendments of 1992” shifts the emphasis of health professional education to primary care services.

The National Sample Survey of Registered Nurses indicates 2,239,816 registered nurses in the US, and of that number, 1,853,024 registered nurses were employed in nursing positions.

1993

ANA spearheads intense lobbying efforts and grassroots support enabled nursing programs to receive an increase in the appropriations for specific line items of the Nurse Education Act; nurse practitioner/nurse midwife programs; professional nurse traineeships; and advanced nurse education.

Family Medical Leave Act – at ANA’s urging, Federal agencies include nurses as a category of practitioners able to certify the need for leave.

After many years of effort, the Brady Handgun Control legislation passes requiring waiting periods to purchase handguns and proposals to help curb violence against women.

The House of Delegates met June 17 – 18 in Washington, DC.

The Women’s Vietnam Memorial honoring military nurses dedicated in Washington, D.C.

1994

Free immunizations for Medicaid eligible and uninsured children; ANA has been at the forefront of efforts to increase the rate of immunizations for all children.

ANA has success in ensuring language is included in the Statement of Administration Actions clarifying that North American Free Trade Agreement does not permit Mexican or Canadian professionals to practice a licensed profession in the U.S. without meeting all applicable state licensing criteria.

The ANA convention was held June 10 – 15 in San Antonio, TX. Convention theme: “Nurses: Charting The Course for a Healthy Nation”.

ANA continues to advocate for the re-designation of the National Center for Nursing Research, as a means to highlight the importance of nursing research to scientific bodies of knowledge.

ANA is deeply involved in Health Care Reform.

1995

ANA supports programs for education, skills enhancement and reemployment for nurses through the dislocated worker initiative.

ANA\California becomes a constituent association of the American Nurses Association.

The Mary Ellen Patton Staff Nurse Leadership Award is established to recognize an individual staff nurse who has made significant contributions to the professional advancement of staff nurses, and who has demonstrated leadership in the nursing profession.

ANA is committed to monitoring the impact of implementation of the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trades (GATT) on the U.S. nursing workforce to ensure that U.S. citizens receive quality care from licensed professionals and to protect the economic welfare of U.S. trained nurses.

The Hatch Act reforms receive ANA support to give federally employed nurses and other Federal workers full political rights.

ANA supports passage of the health insurance portability legislation which requires health insurance companies to guarantee to individuals who lose or leave their jobs can continue to have health insurance coverage; lobbied against inclusion of medical savings accounts for mental health parity in this legislation.

25,000 nurses from across the country marched on the nation’s Capitol to protest cutbacks in nurse staffing and improper use of unlicensed personnel.

ANA supports the Fair Pay Act to require employers to provide for equal pay for jobs of comparable skill, effort, responsibility and working conditions.

The House of Delegates met June 29 – July 2 in Washington, DC.

1996

ANA drafted model language, adding whistle blower protections to the Medicare law; supported the maintenance and increase funding of the programs represented in the Indian Health Care Improvement Act of 1992, including programs for alcohol and drug abuse and supports recruitment and retention efforts such as increased special pay, scholarships directed to increasing the number of Native Americans who are providers of health care to Native Americans.

The Illegal Immigration and Reform Act of 1996 includes ANA supported language requiring all foreign health workers, other than physicians, to be certified by the Commission on Graduates of Foreign Nursing Schools or equivalent independent credentialing organization. ANA also successfully argues for the removal of a provision in the law which denies medical care to legal immigrants who tested positive for HIV.

ANA lobbies for legislation which allows Veterans Administration registered nurses and other health professionals to hold a second job outside the Veterans Administration and receive remuneration for that work.

Beverly Malone (North Carolina) elected president of the American Nurses Association, 1996 – 2000.

The ANA Centennial convention was held June 14 – 19 in Washington, DC. Convention theme: “ANA’s Centennial: Celebrate our Past, Envision our Future”.

ANA lobbies for the Minority Health Reauthorization Act to revise and extend programs relating to the health of individuals who are members of minority groups.

ANA’s presence on the Internet is launched during the Convention and House of Delegates in Washington, DC with www.nursingworld.org.

Online Journal of Nursing Issues (OJIN) a totally free electronic journal begins. OJIN is hosted on the ANA website and developed in cooperation with Kent State University nursing facility staff.

The National Sample Survey of Registered Nurses estimates a total number of registered nurses in the US to be 2,558,874, and of that number, 2,115,815 are employed in nursing.

1997

Home health care advocates, including ANA, win a $1.7 billion Balanced Budget Act relief package.

ANA works to halt proposals that would drastically cut the Medicare and Medicaid programs. ANA seeks to ensure that occupational safety and health protections continue to be enforced.

ANA works with the Food and Drug Administration to draft regulations requiring warning labels on all medical devices containing natural rubber latex.

ANA advocates for stricter protective emission limits, specifically the Environmental Protection Agency standards for medical waste incinerators.

ANA secures a provision in the President's Fiscal Year 1997 budget proposal to provide Medicare reimbursement to nurse practitioners and clinical nurse specialist in all geographic locations.

The House of Delegates met June 26 – 29 in Washington, DC.

1998

The "Health Professions Education Partnerships Act of 1998" is passed. The bill, signed into law, has been an ANA priority since the previous authorization expired at the end of 1994. It amends the Public Health Service Act to consolidate and reauthorize health professionals and minority and disadvantaged health education programs currently funded under Titles VII and VIII of the Public Health Service Act. The Nurse Education Act programs in Title VII will be restructured to allow for more efficient, flexible and comprehensive Federal financial support for nursing workforce development.

ANA works to achieve adequate funding for the Nurse Education Act and the National Institute of Nursing Research.

ANA achieves the introduction of the "Patient Safety Act".

ANA endorsed legislation to require that handguns be sold with safety locks to prevent unauthorized use and with warnings about the dangers and legal consequences of improperly stored firearms.

ANA lobbying efforts defeat amendments that would have revived the H-1A Visa program for nurses immigrating to the U.S.

ANA actively works to ensure that managed care legislation prohibits health care plans from restricting access to appropriate care and restricted communication between providers and patients.

ANA supports the "Patient Right to Know Act" with provisions for anti-discriminatory language, coverage of emergency care and prohibitions of gag clauses in managed care plans.

The ANA convention was held June 26 – July 1 in San Diego, CA. Convention theme: “Uniting Nurses : One Strong Voice”.

The Staff Nurse Advocacy Award is established to recognize excellence in individual staff nurses who provide direct patient care in all practice settings and who have advocated for their patients. The award is intended to honor staff nurse advocate – the heroines and heroes in the front lines – who have been inspirational role models and mentors to other staff nurses.

1999

ANA supports strong patients’ rights legislation, the Norwood-Dingell bill and works to oppose weakening amendments in the bill.

ANA supports and secures passage of legislation in the House and Senate to prevent needlestick injuries through the mandated use of safer needlestick devices.

ANA supports the reintroduction of the Patient Safety Act in the House of Representatives and the Senate, with strong bipartisan support.

ANA advocates for a comprehensive approach to prevention of medical errors to address the systemic causes of medical errors rather than one that blames individuals.

ANA supports and advocates passage of legislation to provide Medicare coverage for the surgical first assisting services of registered nurses.

ANA opposes provisions of pain relief legislation that would impose regulations on clinical practice allowing the Drug Enforcement Agency to investigate and prosecute practitioners on the basis of their intent in prescribing opioids for a patient suffering serious pain or other distress.

ANA supports the reintroduction of legislation in both the House and Senate to provide direct Medicaid reimbursement to all nurse practitioners and clinical nurse specialists.

ANA supports enactment of legislation to reduce the unexpectedly severe budget cuts contained in the Balanced Budget Act of 1997 that placed many home health care providers, skilled nursing facilities and hospitals in serious financial jeopardy.

The House of Delegates met June 17 – 20, in Washington, DC.

The House of Delegates, by way of bylaws changes, creates the United American Nurses (UAN) to serve as the collective bargaining arm of the ANA.

2000

ANA actively lobbies for increased funding for the National Institute of Nursing Research (NINR), the Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA), the National Institute of Occupational Safety and Health (NIOSH), and the National Labor Relations Board. In addition, Nurse Education Act programs were funded at the same level as they were in 1999.

ANA secures language in the appropriations process for Fiscal Year 2001 that recommends a study on the impact of extended work hours, especially mandatory overtime on registered nurses and patient safety.

Federal Nurses Association (FedNA) becomes a constituent association of the American Nurses Association.

ANA supports passage of a House of Representatives strong managed care reform legislation that contains a provision to protect health care workers from retaliation when they advocate for their patients in institutional settings and provisions to require health plans to allow patients to have access to a range of health care providers, with no discrimination against some provider solely on the basis of type of licensure.

Mary Foley (California) elected president of the American Nurses Association, 2000 – 2002.

The ANA convention was held June 23 – 28 in Indianapolis, IN. Convention theme: “A New Association for A New Millennium”.

ANA is the lead organization of the Community Nursing Organization demonstration project.

The ANA House of Delegates through bylaws changes creates the Commission on Workplace Advocacy (CWPA) to address the workplace issues of those nurses who work in non-labor states.

ANA supports the reauthorization of the Ryan White CARE Act in the 104th and 106th Congress. ANA secures support for the AIDS Education and Training Centers which provides support for the education of health care professionals. ANA also works to increase funding for all the Ryan White CARE Act programs during the appropriations process.

The National Sample Survey of Registered Nurses estimates there are 2,696,540 registered nurses in the US, and of that number, 2,201,813 are employed in nursing.

2001

ANA works to strengthen proposed federal regulations to protect the health record privacy and the use of health information while ensuring that health care providers have the information necessary to treat their patients properly.

Massachusetts Association of Registered Nurses (May) and ANA-Maine (June) become constituent association members of the American Nurses Association.

ANA unveils Bill of Rights for registered nurses.

The House of Delegates met June 29 – July 1 in Washington, DC.

On September 11th terrorist hijacked four airplanes crashing two into the World Trade Center and one into the Pentagon. The fourth plane, reportedly headed to Washington, DC, went down in rural Western Pennsylvania. In the wake of these attacks, registered nurses from across the country responded in droves – from standing ready at hospitals designated to handle incoming casualties to signing on to volunteer registries to support ongoing rescue efforts.

Federal legislation prohibiting mandatory overtime joined a succession of other nurse-friendly bills addressing the current staffing crisis and emerging nursing shortage. This latest legislation would make a prohibition on mandatory overtime for nurses a requirement for Medicare provider agreements. Other bills include The Nurse Retention and Quality of Care Act to provide grants to health care organizations to allow them to develop and implement model practices identified by ANCC, as ways to make the workplace attractive for nurses.

2002

ANA supports legislation to protect individuals from adverse consequences of improper release of genetic information.

ANA, the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, The American Hospital Association and Health Care Without Harm have launched joint Web site and announced plans to ramp up efforts to improve environmental performance in health care. These efforts herald a new phase for the Hospitals for a Healthy Environment (H2E) program, a landmark collaborative effort between the four national groups.

ANA's Commission on Workplace Advocacy (CWPA) works to implement recommended strategies to reduce workplace violence.

Nursing Organizations Alliance (the Alliance) is created by merging the National Federation for Specialty Nursing Organizations (NFSNO) and the Nursing Organizations Liaison Forum (NOLF), an entity of the ANA. Its mission is "to increase nursing's visibility and impact on health through communication, collaboration and advocacy".

ANA is working with the Department of Health and Human Services (HHS) Office of Public Health Preparedness and the Public Health Service (PHS) to establish a National Nurses Response Team (NNRT). The NNRT will be dedicated to responding to a presidentially declared disaster to provide mass immunization or chemoprophylaxis to a population at risk.

ANA achieved a major legislative victory when the Nurse Reinvestment Act was passed by Congress and signed by the president. The measure will authorize federal funding for scholarships and loan repayments for nursing students who agree to work in shortage areas after they graduate. In addition, it will include grants to encourage facilities to implement the American Nurses Credentialing Center (ANCC) Magnet Recognition Program criteria for excellence in nursing services.

Barbara Blakeney (Massachusetts) elected president of the American Nurses Association, 2002 – 2006.

The ANA convention was held June 29 – July 2 in Philadelphia, PA. Convention theme: "Nurses Care For America".

2003

ANA works with Representative John Oliver (D-MA) to support the June 2003 re-introduction of the Medicaid Nursing Incentive Act (H.R. 2295). This legislation would reinstate the federal mandate for Medicaid coverage of services provided by nurse practitioners, clinical nurse specialists, and certified nurse-midwives.

ANA testifies on the nursing shortage in the Veterans Administration system, emphasizing the need to improve working conditions for nurses and highlighting various programs and legislation supported by ANA to achieve this goal, including the American Nurses Credentialing Center's Magnet Recognition program.

Genetic Information Nondiscrimination Act of 2003. ANA joins with other concerned organizations urging a vote on the Senate version of this bipartisan bill before the House adjourned for the year. ANA has long supported the privacy of medical information, including genetic information and believes that it is critical for genetic nondiscrimination legislation to be passed and signed into law.

ANA provides comments to the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services on a proposed rule "Payment Reform for Part B Drugs" published in the August 20, 2003 Federal Register. While ANA supports proposed increases in practice expenses, there is concern that these increases do not go far enough to ensure continued access to high quality office-based care, particularly for cancer patients.

ANA lobbies for the Harkin Amendment, which would halt a proposal to change overtime provisions for millions of workers, including nurses, continues to be a controversial sticking point to the Fiscal Year 2004 Labor, Health and Human Services Appropriation bill. The ANA contacted the members of the conference committee to urge them to keep the Harkin provision in the final bill.

On, June 22, 2003, the ANA Board of Directors approved a position statement presented by the ANA Congress on Nursing Practice and Economics titled, "The Elimination of Manual Patient Handling to Prevent Work-Related Musculoskeletal Disorders."

The House of Delegates met June 25 – 27, in Washington, DC.

The ANA House of Delegates approves bylaw changes that create Associate Organizational Members (AOMs): nursing organizations entering into formal affiliation agreements with ANA. Only one AOM may be for collective bargaining (UAN) and one for workplace advocacy (CAN). The Commission on Workplace Advocacy with the creation of the AOMs ceases to exist as the Center for American Nurses (CAN) is created.

ANA Launches 'Handle with Care' Ergonomics Campaign, September 2003. A multi-pronged effort aimed at preventing work-related musculoskeletal disorders through greater use of assistive equipment and patient-handling devices. This initiative is based upon the position statement "The Elimination of Manual Patient Handling to Prevent Work-Related Musculoskeletal Disorders."

2004

A 26% increase in FY 2004 (H.R. 2673) funding was a major victory for nursing, representing the largest single-year increase since 1974. The additional funds allowed Health Resources and Services Administration to expand scholarship, loan repayment, faculty development, recruitment, and retention initiatives.

Medicare and Prescription Drug Modernization Act (MMA). ANA weighed in to support the elimination of gaps in prescription drug coverage, oppose the privatization of Medicare, and to oppose a Senate provision that would deny the Medicare prescription drug benefit to individuals who are eligible for both Medicare and Medicaid.

ANA actively supports an MMA provision that extends needlestick protections to public hospital workers in the 26 states that do not recognize the Occupational Safety and Health Act (OSHA). This provision established a new Medicare condition of participation for these hospitals. Beginning in July 1, 2004, these hospitals will be required to meet the blood borne pathogen standard which requires the use of safety needles and sharps.

ANA supports a provision of the MMA, clarifying the requirements for the use of the Outcome and Assessment Information Set (OASIS) in home health patients. Previously, home health providers were required to gather OASIS information on all patients, regardless of their insurance carrier. The law clarifies that home health agencies need only collect this data for Medicare and Medicaid non-pediatric patients.

ANA supports changes to the Medicare hospice benefit, redefining the role of nurse practitioners to allow nurse practitioners to be designated as the primary provider (or "attending physician") for the hospice patient.

ANA headquarters move from Washington, DC to Silver Spring, Maryland in September.

ANA was at the forefront of efforts to oppose the formation of association health plans (AHPs), which would allow associations to offer health insurance plans that bypass state-based laws and regulations.

The ANA convention was held June 25 – 28 in Minneapolis, MN. Convention theme: “Nurses : Your Voice, Your Health, Your Life”.

The National Sample Survey of Registered Nurses estimates there are 2,909,357 registered nurses in the US, and of that number, 2,421,351 are employed in nursing.

2005

ANA supports the reintroduction of the Patient Safety Act.

ANA supported the introduction of The Nursing Home Staffing Act of 2005 which calls for nursing homes to meet the minimum staffing recommendations for registered nurses (RNs), licensed practical nurses (LPNs) and nursing assistants outlined in a Department of Health and Human Services (HHS) report issued in 2002. The bill also calls for nursing home facilities to maintain records on nurse staffing, which they must submit to HHS.

ANA signs on in support of an amendment by Senators Richard Durbin (D-IL) and Tom Coburn (R-OK) that would have assisted the thousands of nurses and other medical professionals displaced by Hurricane Katrina who are seeking employment in the states to which they were evacuated.

ANA endorses The Emergency Health Care Relief Act of 2005 (S. 1716), a proposal to support health care coverage for hurricane victims.

ANA supports The Patient Safety and Quality Improvement Act of 2005 as a positive first step in developing a culture of patient safety and promoting a commitment to continuous quality improvement.

ANA supports the Flu Protection Act of 2005 (S. 375/ H.R. 813), which offers a comprehensive approach designed to prevent future vaccine shortages and prepare the nation for a potential flu pandemic.

ANA is the author of and coordinates joint testimony submitted to a House committee regarding the Federal Employee's Compensation Act's (FECA's) recognition of advanced practice registered nurse (APRNs) services.

ANA opposes the Small Business Health Fairness Act of 2005 (H.R. 525) which would allow organizations such as trade, industry, and professional associations, as well as chambers of commerce, to sponsor "association health plans" for their members. ANA opposes Association Health Plans because they would pre-empt protections provided by state insurance laws and regulations.

ANA endorsed an amendment that would have restored respirator protections for health care workers. It would have changed the fiscal year 2006 Labor, Health and Human Services, and Education Appropriations Act (Labor, HHS; H.R. 3010) to restore respirator fit-testing requirements enforced by the Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA).

ANA endorsed the Medicaid Advanced Practice Nurses and Physician Assistants Access Act of 2005 (H.R. 2716) which would remove barriers that keep advanced practice registered nurses (APRNs) from participating fully in state Medicaid Programs.

ANA endorsed the SHARE Act designed to encourage state licensing boards, hospitals and other health care entities to identify and discipline health care professionals who engage in unprofessional behavior.

ANA supported legislation to address the growing problem of antibiotic-resistant disease by calling for a phased elimination of the non-therapeutic use of critical antimicrobial animal drugs in food-producing animals and will lower the burden of human anti-microbial resistance.

ANA joins with the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation and other organizations for "Cover the Uninsured Week" during April. The special week brings together individuals and organization to demand that our nation's leaders find solutions for the more than 46 million Americans living without health insurance.

ANA supported the Medicare Prescription Drug Savings Act of 2005 (S.345 H.R.752) to deliver a meaningful prescription drug benefit and lower prescription drug prices under the Medicare program.

ANA endorsed the Gynecological Cancer Education and Awareness Act of 2005 (H.R. 1245), also known as Johanna's Law. The bill is designed to increase awareness about ovarian, endometrial, and cervical cancers.

ANA supported the goals and provisions of Advanced Directives Legislation while lobbying to ensure that the legislation provides for Medicare coverage of visits to Advanced Practice Registered Nurses, as well as to physicians, to discuss issues surrounding end-of-life care.

ANA supported safe staffing legislation which was reintroduced in both the House and the Senate (S. 71 and H.R. 1372). These identical bills require development of unit-by unit staffing plans in concert with RNs, mandate public reporting of staffing , create whistleblower protections, and establish enforcement mechanisms, including civil monetary penalties, for each knowing violation.

ANA supported the reintroduction of The Safe Nursing and Patient Care Act, a bill which would prohibit the use of mandatory overtime as a staffing tool.

ANA supported legislation that addresses concerns, related to the Administration's newly implemented overtime regulations. The new Department of Labor (DOL) rule that revised the Fair Labor Standards Act (FLSA) in an attempt to clarify overtime exemptions makes it easier for employers to unfairly classify nurses and other workers as ineligible for overtime pay. The legislation would restore the right to overtime pay to any worker who was eligible for overtime before the new regulations.

The House of Delegates met June 17 – 19 in Washington, DC.

2006

A new official journal of the American Nurses Association is launched, "American Nurse Today" in October.

The Congressional Nursing Caucus and ANA sponsored a luncheon briefing for congressional staff to highlight the importance of including nurse staffing as a quality indicator for America's hospitals.

Rebecca Patton (Ohio) elected president of the American Nurses Association,

2006 – 2008. The House of Delegates met June 23 – 25 in Washington, DC.

ANA contributed $192,000 to the American Nurses Foundation (ANF) to help nurses adversely affected by Hurricane Katrina. ANF is distributing 100% of these funds to ANA's three constituent member associations, Louisiana, Mississippi and Alabama.

ANA lobbied to defeat a proposed U.S. Senate bill (S. 1955) that would have rolled back state laws that protect consumers and ensure their access to care by advanced practice registered nurses.

ANA worked with the Congressional Nursing Caucus to gather support for a letter calling on the U.

S. labor and health and human services departments to require states, localities and health care facilities to implement aggressive respiratory infection control programs as part of their pandemic influenza planning.

2007

The National Database on Nursing Quality Indicators (NDNQI) inaugural conference is held January 2007 in Las Vegas, NV.

ANA announces its "2007-2008 Best Practices in Seasonal Influenza Vaccination Campaign" to recognize those health care organizations that have implemented effective strategies to increase their immunization rates.

ANA held a briefing on Capitol Hill to highlight the importance of safe patient handling to congressional health staff.

ANA Board of Directors approved the work of the Congress on Nursing Practice and Economics' Principles of Environmental Health for Nursing Practice. This document lists 10 principles that are intended to guide registered nurses in providing nursing care in a manner that is environmentally safe.

ANA supports the Stem Cell Research Enhancement Act of 2007, which promotes the ethical use of stem cells for research and therapeutic purposes that impact health. ANA endorses the federal funding of stem cell research conducted within strict scientific and ethical guidelines.

National Nurses Week theme: "Nursing: A Profession and A Passion".

Once again, ANA participates as a founding member in "Cover the Uninsured Week, April 23-29. This is a critical year as the State Children's Health Insurance Program (SCHIP) must be reauthorized by Congress to continue its vital role in providing coverage for children living in families earning too much for Medicaid, but not enough to afford private insurance.

A federal bill that would strictly limit the use of forced overtime for nurses was introduced in Congress. The bipartisan legislation, called the "Safe Nursing and Patient Care Act" is endorsed by major organizations representing nurses, including ANA and UAN.

American Nurses Credentialing Center (ANCC) holds the 11th National Magnet Conference in October in Atlanta, Georgia.

The inaugural quadrennial policy conference, "Nursing Care in Life, Death, and Disaster" brought together RNs, nurse managers, nurse educators, regulators, disaster planners and responders and others in Atlanta, Georgia in June.

ANA launches "ANA NurseSpace" a new member benefit offering protected online space for nurses to connect via an online social network where members connect with nurses on the issues they choose.

ANA launches Web site for members to become involved in supporting safe staffing efforts. ANA is attempting to introduce enactment of federal legislation on safe staffing as well as bring ANA's message for health care reform to the presidential candidates.

2008

"Safe Staffing Saves Lives" initiative is launched with a web site dedicated to the issue. ANA also held a national summit to address the nation's health care crisis by addressing nurse staffing levels.

This is part of ANA's comprehensive campaign to ensure quality patient care and improved working conditions for registered nurses.

The American Nurse turns 40!

Center for American Nurses, (associate organizational member) convenes “LEAD Summit” in June 2008 in Washington, DC.

ANA receives the Society for Technical Communications 2007 Award of Excellence for transforming Nursing Data into Quality Care and Teaching IOM.

ANA and the Association of periOperative Registered Nurses (AORN) reached an agreement to provide members of AORN with individual affiliate membership in ANA. They will be nonvoting members of ANA.

“Nurses: Making a Difference Every Day” is the theme for National Nurses Week.

July 1st the United American Nurses (UAN) and Center for American Nurses (the Center) are no longer linked with ANA as associate organizational members.

Hattie M Bessent, EdD, MSN, RN, FAAN is inducted into the ANA Hall of Fame at the 2008 biennial House of Delegates meeting in Washington, DC.

American Nurse Today, the official journal of ANA receives the 2008 Silver Award for Best How- To Article in a health care publication from the American Society of Healthcare Publication editors (ASHPE). The award was for the continuing education article in the July 2007 issue, “Keeping cardiac arrest patients alive with therapeutic hypothermia.”

The ANA Board of Directors endorsed the document, “Consensus Model for APRN Regulations: Licensure, Accreditation, Certification and Education,” at its June meeting. This is a new cohesive approach to APRN practice that association leaders hope will create more opportunities for advanced practice registered nurses and, ultimately, greater access to their services.

The House of Delegates made a major bylaws change for a new membership categories of “labor affiliate” and “workforce advocacy affiliate” permitting ANA to be more inclusive and expand its membership by allowing other organizations that use the same strategies to join with ANA.

The composition of the ANA Board of Directors was altered by the House of Delegates to include a recent graduate position on the Board. A recent graduate is defined as someone who has graduated within five years prior to being elected.

Rebecca M. Patton, MSN, RN, CNOR (from Ohio) is re-elected President of ANA for a second two-year term.

ANA was invited to participate in a panel presentation entitled, “Increasing Health Care Provider Participation to Increase Coverage in 2008 to 2009” at the 2008 National Influenza Vaccine Summit (NIVS) in May in Atlanta, GA. It is the first time ANA has been invited.

ANA endorses presidential candidate Senator Barack Obama. The endorsement process involves sending questionnaires to candidates, request for personal interview, and an online survey of ANA membership regarding which candidate is most supportive of nursing's agenda.

Linda J. Stierle, MSN, RN, NEA-BC retires as Chief Executive Officer of ANA. Ms. Stierle has been CEO since April 1, 2000.

Hall of Fame inductee Florence Wald dies on November 8th at the age of 91 at home in Connecticut.

ANA releases the first of its kind study on the economic value of nursing. The study done by the Lewin Group provides a model that shows how nurses affect the delivery of cost-effective, high quality care, and prevent adverse events.

2009

"New Frontiers in Quality Care" was the theme of a conference hosted by ANA and the ANA's National Center for Nursing Quality. ANA has gathered all its quality work under the National Center for Nursing Quality umbrella including the National Database of Nursing Quality Indicators program to make it easier for members to access information and use the programs to improve care.

National Nurses Week theme is: "Nurses: Building a Healthy America."

ANA President Rebecca M. Patton, MSN, RN, CNOR participates in the White House Health Care Summit on March 5th.

Marla J. Weston, PhD, RN is welcomed June 14th as the new Chief Executive Officer of the ANA. Dr. Weston also serves as CEO of the American Nurses Foundation.

ANA President Rebecca M. Patton, MSN, RN, CNOR takes part in a White House Event with President Barack Obama to call for health care reform.

The economic downturn severely impacted the magazine and journal publishing industry that ANA's official journal American Nurse Today will become a bimonthly publication beginning with the July/August issue.

ANA members joined an estimated 10,000 people to call on Congress to pass health care reform this year at a health care rally June 25. As part of the Health Care for America NOW (HCAN) coalition, ANA took part in the rally in Washington, DC, at which hundreds of organizations sent representatives with one common goal – quality, affordable health care for America now.

ANA President Rebecca M. Patton, MSN, RN, CNOR was voted onto Modern Healthcare's 100 Most Powerful People in Healthcare for 2009.

The American Academy of Nursing (AAN) held its 36th annual meeting and conference November 5-7 in Atlanta, GA. The conference, "Creating An Agenda for a Healthy Society", covered ideas and topics related to the push for health care reform and the role of nursing.

The American Nurses Credentialing Center (ANCC) launched a new Counsel Core certification, September 1st. The core examination tests competencies expected and required for the role of the CNS across the lifespan regardless of specialty. Candidates who pass this exam will earn the credential CNS-BC.

Pathway to Excellence program is introduced by the American Nurses Credentialing Center (ANCC) a credential granted to healthcare organizations that create work environments where nurses can flourish. The designation supports the professional satisfaction of nurses and identifies best places to work.

A new web site dedicated to safe patient handling was launched by the ANA. The intention of the site is to help reach the goal of eliminating manual patient handling in health care facilities and creating a safer work environment. The new site, ANASafePatientHandling.org, is one more part of ANA's long advocacy for the use of assistive lifting equipment and devices to reduce the incidence of musculoskeletal injuries and pain suffered by nurses, episodes which are often career-ending and increase work-related health care cost.

The Congress on Nursing Practice and Economics (CNPE) held the first virtual meeting in ANA's history. In a unanimous vote, the CNPE recommended that the ANA Board of Directors endorse the position statement, "Additional Access to Care: Supporting Nurse Practitioners in Retail-based Health Clinics."

2010

The 2010 International Year of the Nurse (IYNurse) is a sustained initiative to actively involve the over 15 million nurses worldwide in a celebration of commitment to bring health to their communities. Set in the centennial year of the death of Florence Nightingale, the founder of modern nursing, IYNurse seeks to recognize the contributions of nurses globally and to engage them in meeting the UN Millennium Development Goals for world health.

January 12th a devastating earthquake hit Haiti. At the request of the International Medical Corps (IMC), ANA began recruiting nurses with OR, post-op recovery, and post-surgical care of patients through its CMAs and affiliated specialty organizations. Within hours of that request, more than 100 nurses responded, and ANA began reviewing their information to pass on to the IMC.

National Nurses Week theme: “Nurses: Caring Today for a Healthier Tomorrow.”

ANA Board of Directors approved two significant policy documents developed by its Congress on Nursing Practice and Economics (CNPE) – a new position statement entitled Just Culture outlines its formal support of the just culture model – a concept widely used within the aviation industry to create an environment that encourages individuals to report mistakes, so that systemic issues contributing these errors can be identified and eliminated. Secondly, a revised position statement entitled Nurses’ Role in Capital Punishment articulates ANA’s stance against direct or indirect nurse participation in all phases of capital punishment, because it is contrary to the fundamental goals and ethical traditions of the nursing profession.

ANA eagerly supported First Lady Michelle Obama in her critical efforts to combat childhood obesity. ANA is ready to assist the first lady to address this significant health problem through her program, “Let’s Move – American’s Move for a Healthier Generation.”

As part of its Bringing Immunity to Every Community initiative, ANA launched a new website, ANAImmune.org that contains vital resources and information for nurses on virtually all aspects of immunization.

The U.S. State Department invited ANA President Rebecca M. Patton to join the U.S. delegation to the 63rd World Health Assembly in Geneva, Switzerland. Her role as an adviser was to represent ANA and provide informed views on health policy issues.

Congress passes “The Health Care and Education Affordability Reconciliation Act of 2010.” ANA provided online resources for nurses designed to clearly explain what the measure does and when its provisions go into effect. The “Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act” (PPACA) is a timeline of implementations for which a guide has also been developed.

The House of Delegates was held in June with President Barack Obama addressing the delegates, who responded with cheers and signs that read “Yes, We Did.” The HOD elected Karen Daley, PhD, MPH, RN, FAAN, of Boston, as President of ANA for a two-year term.

President Patton presented the first ever ANA President’s Award to Norma Lang, PhD, RN, FAAN, FRCN for her significant contributions to nursing and health care.

Seven past-presidents of ANA attended the HOD to participate in a health care reform discussion. Present were Eunice Cole, Barbara Nichols, Lucille Joel, Virginia Trotter Betts, Jo Eleanor Elliott, Mary Foley, and Barbara Blakeney.

The ANA and the American Association of Colleges of Nursing (AACN) hosted the inaugural event for the newly created Senate Nursing Caucus, in September.

The boards of the ANA and Center for American Nurses (Center) announced that the product and services of the Center will be integrated within ANA. The Center, over the past seven years, developed excellent resources for RNs in service of its mission to actively collaborate and partner with individuals and groups to create healthy work environments.

Institute of Medicine (IOM) recently released report The Future of Nursing: Leading Change, Advancing Health, contains recommendations that if implemented, could unleash the potential of advanced practice registered nursing. The first recommendation of the report is to “Remove scope- of-practice barriers. Advanced practice registered nurses should be able to practice to the full extent of their education and training.”

In December, the ANA became an official supporting organization of the One Health Initiative (One Health). This unique initiative is a global strategy for developing interdisciplinary collaboration and coalition building between health care providers of animals, humans and the environment at large. One Health’s vision statement says it is “dedicated to improving the lives of all species – human and animal – through the integration of human medicine, veterinary medicine and environmental sciences.”

2011

The American Nurses Credentialing Center (ANCC) Board of Directors appointed Michael L. Evans, PhD, RN, NEA-BC, FAAN as president of ANCC. The immediate past president was Debbie Dawson Hatmaker, PhD, RN-BC, SANE-A.

National Nurses Week theme: “Nurses: Trusted to Care.”

ANA joined Partnership for Patients, a coalition of hospitals, providers, patient advocates, employers, and state and federal officials dedicated to creating a safer, higher quality health care system.

The Affordable Care Act (ACA) placed a great deal of attention to the ability of nurse practitioners (NPs), certified nurse-midwives (CNMs) and certified midwives (CMs) to help solve our nation’s shortage of primary care providers (PCPs). For several months ANA has been closely engaged with a “negotiated rulemaking committee” that will determine, among other details, if and how NPs, CNMs, and CMs will be counted as PCPs in the federal government designation of health professional shortage areas.

The pervasiveness of social media leads ANA to release its Principles for Social Networking and the Nurse: Guidance for the Registered Nurse, a resource to guide nurses and nursing students in how they maintain professional standards in the new media environments.

More than 1,000 nurses from all across the United States took part in the ANA first ever Virtual Lobby Day on September 28th. The virtual lobby day concept is an opportunity to make nurses' voices heard from anywhere. Nurses, wherever they may be physically located, can advocate for the important issues facing the profession, with the only requirements being Internet access and a phone. Participants sent hundreds of e-mails and letters and made phone calls to member of Congress urging them to support legislation that will remove a barrier to practice in Medicare.

Following a hearing to consider charges of dual unionism, the ANA has suspended the New York State Nurses Association (NYSNA) from constituent member status. Several individual members of NYSNA produced evidence for the hearing panel showing that some NYSNA board members brought in staff leaders of a competing union, provided them with access to proprietary information, and gave them complete control of the organization's operations.

2012

ANA joined five other health care groups representing millions of health care professionals in filing an amicus brief with the U.S. Supreme Court in support of the Affordable Care Act's (ACA) "minimum coverage provision." RNs are frontline witnesses of the harmful health effects on individuals who are uninsured and defer needed care and have a unique perspective to guide the court regarding the consequences of removing the provision.

Nurses Week theme: Nurses: Advocating, Leading, Caring.

The Constituent Assembly passed a motion in November 2011, which the ANA Board subsequently supported, requesting that the staff put a plan together based on three issues: cooperation and synergy, member growth, and further discussions of business arrangements. The Board envisioned a robust ANA with great relevance to nurses' needs and wants and holding the top spot among national professional association in health care. The transformation is called ANA's race for relevance.

ANA in coordination with the Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) and Defense is co-leading the Joining Forces initiative, a broad effort of more than 160 state and national nurses organizations and more than 500 nursing schools to ensure the nation's 3.1 million nurses can better meet the unique health needs of service members, veterans, and their families.

The Essential Guide to Nursing Practice Applying ANA's Scope and Standards of Practice and Education is published as a powerful tool to assist nurses in applying the scope of nursing practice and the standards of professional performance in everyday practice at all levels of nursing.

ANA and American Organization of Nurse Executives (AONE) have jointly released a new document, Principles of Collaborative Relationships Between Clinical Nurses and Nurse Managers. The document is a key resource for all nurses who seek to prioritize and sustain better collaboration in their work settings.

The ANA House of Delegates (HOD) re-elects Karen Daley as President.

The HOD adopted a resolution to champion an enforceable, nurse-led staffing process that includes staffing principles, minimum nurse-to-patient ratios, collection of nursing-sensitive data, and penalties associated with facilities' non-compliance. Another key issue addressed focuses on preventing workplace violence, asking ANA to petition the U.S. Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA) to require health care and social services employers to develop comprehensive workplace violence prevention programs.

Delegates voted to adopt a measure involving advocacy around the right of nurses to engage in alternative duty that does not require handling hazardous drugs when they are trying to conceive, are pregnant or are breastfeeding. The measure also notes that it is essential for health care facilities to have programs to educate nurses about the risk of reproductive and developmental effects that have been associated with hazardous drugs.

Delegates voted for a measure designed to help nurses, and ultimately their patients and the public, better understand health concerns associated with fossil fuel energy and the benefits of energy conservation and renewable energy sources.

The HOD took several bold steps toward re-shaping ANA with an eye toward making it stronger and more responsive to address issues important to nurses, and by streamlining the way it conducts its work. One major measure replaces the HOD with a smaller Membership Assembly as ANA's governing and voting body. The Assembly will elect, advise and direct the ANA Board of Directors on emerging environmental trends, as well as determine policy and positions of the association. The Assembly will meet annually.

Delegates agreed to reduce the size of the ANA board from 15 to nine members, including four officers and five directors-at-large, one of whom is a staff nurse and one a recent graduate. They also approved measures to dissolve the Constituent Assembly, comprised of the C/SNA presidents and executive directors, and effective March 2013, the 60-member Congress on Nursing Practice and Economics (CNPE). New, shorter-term opportunities will be available for nurses to serve on ad hoc "Professional Issues Panels" that will address specific, and in some cases, urgent issues important to nurses.

HOD Delegates also agreed to expand ANA membership to nurses who have retired or no longer choose to practice, as long as the nurse's license was in good standing at the time, she or he decided not to maintain an active license.

ANA convened a panel of 26 specialists to devise overarching standards for implementing safe patient handling programs and detailed guidelines for making them work effectively in practice. The Safe Patient Handling (SPH) National Standards Working Group expects to publish the guidelines in 2013.

ANA advocated for new provisions to recognize and pay for core nursing services including care coordination, transitional care in reimbursement policies in a new Medicare rule issued November 1st.

Nurses respond to the flooding and fury left by Hurricane Sandy along the northeast shoreline.

ANA-Illinois recognized by the ANA Board of Directors as a new constituent member association. This development is the result of a thoughtful decision by the Illinois Nurses Association BOD and its Commission on Economic & General Welfare to restructure into two distinct organizations to better serve members. INA is solely for union nurses. ANA-Illinois serves all nurses in the state.

For the first time a nurses' float appears in the Rose Bowl Parade in California. The "Healing Place" design is a metaphor for the healing environments nurses create anywhere there is a nurse and a patient.

In December, a diverse group of nurses from across New York launched a new professional organization for all RNs in the state, the American Nurses Association-New York.

2013

ANA's publishing program, nursesbooks.org, expanded into a new area of nursing practice with the release of its nurse coaching title: The Art and Science of Nurse Coaching: The Provider's Guide to Coaching Scope and Competencies."

The first professional issues panel was formed on care coordination quality measures. This inaugural panel will develop a framework for measuring the contributions of RNs engaged in care coordination.

National Nurses Week Theme: "Delivering Quality and Innovation in Patient Care."

The first meeting of the Institute of Medicine (IOM) Standing Committee on Credentialing Research in Nursing, sponsored by the American Nurses Credentialing Center (ANCC) was held in January at the National Academy of Sciences in Washington, D.C.

ANA spearheaded an effort to develop national, interdisciplinary safe patient handling and mobility (SPHM) standards to be applicable across the care continuum. Safe Patient Handling and Mobility: Interprofessional National Standards contain eight overarching SPHM standards of care was released in June.

“Fostering Innovative Staffing Solutions” was a conference sponsored by ANA and ANF. The conference sought to discover, learn and create inventive solutions to the complex challenge of determining and delivering the best possible nurse staffing.

Constituent/State Nurses Association representatives attended the inaugural Membership Assembly in Washington, D.C. The theme that carried through the event was “A Look into the Future: Advancing the Association: Advancing the Profession.” Trends identified include increased use and reliance upon technology; increasing trends toward home-based care; a true wellness and prevention focus; and a “back to nature movement” that considers the environment’s impact on health.

A cross-border resolution was presented and discussed at the Membership Assembly. The issue is too complex with murky state and federal regulations that the resolution was sent to the ANA BOD for further review of licensure implications.

Assembly representatives also voted on bylaws, or governing amendments, which included approving a timeline for smoothly transitioning to a smaller Board of Directors – from 15 to nine members by 2017. Additionally, they adopted a structure that acknowledges RNs who are full members of a C/SNA as holding concurrent membership in ANA.

The American Nurses Association signed agreements with The Ohio State University College of Nursing and Capella University to develop programs and offerings for the ANA Leadership Institute to advance the preparation and education of nurse leaders.

2014

National Nurses Week Theme: “Nurses Leading the Way.”

Representatives to the American Nurses Association Membership Assembly elected Pamela Cipriano of Charlottesville, VA to serve as president of the association.

The Membership Assembly addressed “Scope of Practice – Full Practice Authority for All RNs.” Representatives recommended that ANA support interprofessional education, practice and research to promote the full scope of RN practice; encourage nursing research to compare full practice authority states, transition to APRN practice states, and restricted APRN states; educate the public, policymakers and other health professionals about emerging roles and overlapping responsibilities; and support eliminating practice agreements between APRNs and physicians.

The second forum focused on “Integration of Palliative Care into Health Care Delivery Systems: Removing Barriers, Improving Access.” The Assembly asked ANA to promote and support payment models to improve access to palliative and hospice care, including nursing care provided by both RNs and APRNs; advocate for comprehensive integration of palliative and hospice care education at all levels of nursing educational programs and professional development programs; and support developing and expanding models of nursing care that include advanced care planning for early identification and support of patient’s preferences for palliative and hospice services.

The final forum explored high-performing, interprofessional teams. The Assembly asked ANA to consider educating nurses about the application and impact of evolving patient-centered, team- based care models on patient outcomes, and identifying metrics that evaluate the impact of high- performing, interdisciplinary health care teams on patient outcomes.

The ANA board researched the Cross-border practice that was raised at the 2012 Membership Assembly. The Board chartered a task force comprised of a broad spectrum of involved parties including state regulators, insurers, and consumers. The task force is to seek uniform licensure requirements, particularly as they pertain to criminal background checks and impaired practice; identify a regulatory model that could address new, emerging practices; and develop a standardized decision tree for determining scope of practice.

As a way for ANA to leverage and expand on its quality work and allow NDNQI to continue to grow even stronger, the association has sold its nursing-sensitive measures database and RN Survey tool to Press Ganey, a long-standing leader in performance measurement.

2015

ANA designated 2015 the “Year of Ethics” and planned a series of associated events such as webinars, online resources, and an ethics symposium.

The newly revised Code of Ethics for Nurses With Interpretive Statements was issued. Last updated in 2001, the new version reflected changes such as increasing diversity in the nursing profession, social media and its impact on patient privacy, and medical advances that may create ethical dilemmas for nurses.

ANA’s CEO Marla J. Weston, PhD, RN, FAAN, attended a White House reception in April celebrating the passage of a law that added nurse practitioners and clinical nurse specialists to the ranks of those authorized to document the required meeting with a Medicare recipient before that patient can be prescribed durable medical equipment.

The theme of National Nurses’ Week was “Ethical Practice. Quality Care.” Preliminary findings from a health risk appraisal of nurses showed that 82 percent of respondents named workplace stress as a perceived risk. More than 40 percent expressed concern about being injured while moving heavy patients or equipment, and nearly one-fourth reported being physically assaulted by a patient or a patient’s family member.

Rep. John Conyers (D-MI) and Sen. Al Franken (D-MN) introduced the Nurse and Health Care Worker Protection Act of 2015, which would require the Occupational Safety and Health Administration to establish standards for Safe Patient Handling and Mobility.

The 2015 ANA Ethics Symposium was held June 4-5 in Baltimore.

ANA leaders attended the International Council of Nurses conference June 19-23 in Seoul. The theme was “Global Citizen, Global Nursing.”

The ANA Membership Assembly met in Washington, DC, July 23-25. Representatives elected Dr. Ernest J. Grant, PhD, MSN, RN, FAAN, of the North Carolina Nurses Association as vice president. Re-elected for second terms were Treasurer Giny Harshey-Meade, MSN, RN, CAE, NEA-BC, of the Indiana State Nurses Association and Director-at-Large, recent graduate Jesse M. L. Kennedy, BSN, RN, of the Oregon Nurses Association.

RNs were on Capitol Hill in July to lobby lawmakers and staff for ANA-supported legislation. Favored bills included the Registered Nurse Safe Staffing Act, which would ensure adequate RN staffing; the Home Health Care Planning Improvement Act that would allow Advanced Practice RNs (APRNs) to order home health care services under Medicare; and the Improving Veterans Access to Care Act, which would grant full practice authority to APRNs at Veterans Health Administration facilities.

ANA published the third edition of Nursing: Scope and Standards of Practice.

In a position statement on “Incivility, Bullying, and Workplace Violence,” ANA announced that the nursing profession “will not tolerate violence of any kind from any source.” Crafted by a panel of RNs, the statement addressed the continuum from incivility in the workplace to physical assault.

To help prevent the most commonly reported hospital-acquired condition – catheter-associated urinary tract infection (CAUTI) – ANA developed a CAUTI prevention guide that the CDC adopted as a resource on its website.

Modern Healthcare named ANA President Pamela F. Cipriano, PhD, RN, NEA-BC, FAAN, one of the “Top 25 Women in Healthcare.”

The ANCC National Magnet Conference®, the nation’s largest gathering of RNs, was held Oct. 7-9 in Atlanta.

ANA and more than 40 other stakeholders committed to a 2-year national effort to educate nurses about opioid addiction and safe prescribing practices.

The American Nurses Foundation awarded almost $250,000 to 28 recipients to help fund nursing research.

The ANA Board of Directors approved ongoing education about infection control and prevention. The ANA collaborated with the Association for Professionals in Infection Control and Epidemiology (APIC) and the Centers for Disease Control (CDC) to develop training programs for nurses.

When the hosts of ABC's "The View" mocked a monologue performed by Miss Colorado, Kelley Johnson – an RN – during the talent portion of the Miss America pageant nurses all over the nation complained and companies began pulling their advertising. ANA responded by encouraging nurses to the opportunity as a teachable moment and to "Show Their Stethoscope" by posting on social media. The response went viral and became news covered by media around the globe. The hosts subsequently apologized and invited faculty from NYU's School of Nursing to appear on the show.

2016

ANA announced the theme of its year-long campaign to help nurses stay safe in the workplace: "Safety 360: Taking Responsibility Together."

ANA marked its 120th anniversary.

The number of RNs in the United States reached 3.6 million.

ANA announced the creation of the ANA Enterprise, an umbrella organization for ANA, the American Nurses Credentialing Center, and the American Nurses Foundation.

More than 1,400 nurses and other professionals attended the ANA annual conference held March 9-11 in Lake Buena Vista, FL. The theme was "Connecting Quality, Safety and Staffing to Improve Outcomes."

The American Pediatric Surgical Nurses Association and the Dermatology Nurses' Association joined ANA as organized affiliates.

The theme of National Nurses Week (May 6-12) was "Culture of Safety – It Starts With YOU." More than 11,000 nurses downloaded the week's toolkit.

ANA-supported legislation was enacted that expanded nurses' roles in combatting the opioid epidemic. The new law gave nurse practitioners with appropriate training the authority to prescribe buprenorphine to patients trying to overcome opioid dependence. ANA also developed online resources for nurses about the prevention and treatment of opioid dependency.

ANA joined the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) in a 2-year commitment to educate and train nurses on avoiding infection when caring for patients with highly contagious diseases such as the Ebola and Zika viruses. Together with 20 nursing organizations, ANA and the CDC develop the Nursing Infection Control Education Network. (NICE Network.)

The ANA Board of Directors ratified a motion to recognize clinical research nursing as a specialty nursing practice.

ANA inducted into its Hall of Fame Muriel Poulin, EdD, RN, FAAN, from ANA-Maine and Patricia Messmer, PhD, RN-BC, FAAN, from the Florida Nurses Association.

ANA received the 2016 “Power of A” Silver Award from ASAE for the positive impact of its 2015 “Year of Ethics” campaign.

The American Nurses Foundation awarded nearly $250,000 in research grants to 28 nurse researchers.

“Information Overload: Framework, Tips, and Tools to Manage in Complex Healthcare Environments,” published by ANA, earned first place for the AJN Book of the Year Award in the category of information technology/social media.

ANA President Pamela J. Cipriano, PhD, RN, NEA-BC, FAAN, was named one of the “Top 100 Most Influential People in Healthcare” by Modern Healthcare.

Gallup polling found that nursing continued to be the most trusted profession, ranking first for the 14th year in a row.

ANA endorsed the presidential candidacy of Hillary Clinton, based on the results of an online member survey and consideration of which candidate’s positions best aligned with nursing’s priorities.

Eighty-three percent of the 52 candidates endorsed by ANA’s Political Action Committee (PAC) won their election.

ANA rolled out new resources specifically targeted to nursing school faculty: an online community forum and faculty-specific webinars.

The Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) issued a final rule granting full practice authority to nurse practitioners, clinical nurse specialists, and certified nurse-midwives employed by the VA.

ANA President Pamela F. Cipriano, PhD, RN, NEA-BC, FAAN, sent a letter to President-elect Donald Trump in December stating ANA’s priorities regarding the nation’s health care system, including universal access to essential health care and a sufficient supply of skilled nurses.

When the year closed, so did “The American Nurse” after 48 years of publication. Core content will be incorporated into American Nurse Today, the official journal of ANA.

2017

ANA designated 2017 the “Year of the Healthy Nurse” to promote healthful practices among nurses, who could then model that behavior for patients.

The top priorities for 2017 were identified as 1) adequate RN staffing, 2) care coordination, 3) health system activity, and 4) Healthy Nurse, Healthy Nation™.

The ANA 2017-2020 Strategic Plan commenced on Jan. 1. Its three goals were to: increase the number and engagement of nurses with ANA, stimulate nurse-focused innovations, and leverage the ANA Enterprise to position nurses as integral partners in consumers' health care.

ANA's Annual Conference was held March 8-10 in Tampa with the theme "Translating Quality Into Practice."

ANA remained vigilant in opposing efforts to repeal the Affordable Care Act, arguing that any diminution of the law could jeopardize individuals' access to health care.

Gallup polling found nursing to be the most trusted profession for the 15th year in a row.

The percentage of employed nurses in the United States with a bachelor's degree or higher in nursing reached 56 percent. One of the recommendations from the Institute of Medicine's Future of Nursing Report (2010) was a goal of 80 percent BSN-prepared nurses by 2020. Since 2010, the number of minority RN graduates increased by 43 percent; the number of male RN graduates increased by 29 percent.

In keeping with the year-long campaign focused on self-care for nurses, the theme of National Nurses Week was "Nursing: The Balance of Mind, Body, and Spirit."

ANA launched its Healthy Nurse, Healthy Nation™ Grand Challenge on May 1, with the goal of improving the nation's health by improving the health of its 3.6 million RNs.

ANA President Pamela F. Cipriano, PhD, RN, NEA-BC, FAAN, was elected to the International Council of Nurses Executive Board at its meeting in Barcelona.

ANA's Membership Assembly was held June 9-10 in Washington, DC. Voting representatives recommended that ANA emphasize the importance of policy advocacy to all RNs and work to expand members' political involvement. Representatives also formally reaffirmed their opposition to the American Health Care Act of 2017.

Noting the high stress levels of RNs, ANA joined a collaborative effort begun by the National Academy of Medicine (NAM) to foster well-being and resilience in health care providers.

ANA nurses volunteered their services during Hurricane Harvey, providing treatment in emergency shelters and relieving staff nurses at area hospitals overrun by patients transferred from evacuated facilities.

For the third consecutive year, ANA President Pamela J. Cipriano, PhD, RN, NEA-BC, FAAN, was named one of the "100 Most Influential People in Healthcare" by Modern Healthcare, and ANA Enterprise CEO Marla J. Weston, PhD, RN, FAAN, was named one of "Top 25 Women in Healthcare.

The American Nurses Association (ANA) launched the #EndNurseAbuse initiative to increase awareness of the serious problem of physical and verbal abuse against nurses. This campaign was launched following the release of a video showing Utah nurse Alex Wubbells being assaulted by a member of law enforcement while advocating on behalf of her patient.

In December the ANA Board of Directors approved the document, A Call to Action: Exploring Moral Resilience Toward a Culture of Ethical Practice and approved the formation of a panel to identify barriers to reporting violence and abuse in the workplace.

2018

ANA designated 2018 as the “Year of Advocacy” and encouraged RNs to become politically active in advocating for their profession and their patients.

ANA announced nurse-led innovation for health care improvement as one of its principal strategic goals. The key competencies it recommended to bolster innovation were creativity, spanning boundaries, change management, considered risk-taking, and a tolerance of failure.

To promote the role of nurses in coordinating patient care, ANA developed new resources such as Care Coordination: A Blueprint for Action for RNs, which provided nurses with a plan to lead care coordination and to advocate for that role.

Loressa Cole, DNP, MBA, RN, NEA-BC, FACHE, was appointed the new CEO of ANA Enterprise.

New York enacted ANA-supported legislation, known as “BSN in 10” requiring future RNs to earn a baccalaureate degree in nursing within 10 years of initial licensure

ANA announced the expansion of its #EndNurseAbuse initiative to include eliminating sexual harassment.

The theme of National Nurses Week was “Nurses: Inspire, Innovate, Influence.” Sen. Jeff Merkley (D-OR) and Rep. Dave Joyce (R-OH) sponsored the Safe Staffing for Nurses and Patient Safety Act of 2018, a bill championed by ANA. It would require Medicare-participating hospitals to form committees composed of at least 55 percent direct-care nurses to determine nurse-to-patient staffing ratios.

ANA held its 2018 Quality and Innovation Conference in Orlando, where nearly 1,000 participants were challenged to develop innovative approaches to nursing.

The ANA Board of Directors approved a position statement on “the ethical responsibility to manage pain and the suffering it causes.” While recognizing that opioids carry significant risks, the Board took the position that “nurses must advocate for policies to assure access to all effective modalities.”

About 300 nurses met on Capitol Hill in June to lobby lawmakers and their staff on key issues such as safe staffing, workforce development funding, prevention of gun violence, and opioid addiction treatment.

ANA partnered with the Institute for Healthcare Improvement to help devise a plan for accelerating progress in patient safety, a cause for which ANA has long advocated.

Two nurses were inducted into ANA's Hall of Fame: Barbara J. Drew, PhD, RN, FAAN, FAHA, of ANA-California; and, posthumously, Marie Louise Fitzpatrick, EdD, RN, FAAN, of Pennsylvania State Nurses Association.

ANA's Membership Assembly met in Washington, DC, June 22-23. Representatives approved recommendations for ANA to 1) advocate for evidence-based protocols for treating opioid overdose and 2) incorporate a clarification into ANA's position statement on aid-in-dying that while nurses are ethically permitted to assist such action where it is legal, they also have the right to conscientiously object.

The Membership Assembly elected the first man to hold the office of president: Ernest J. Grant, PhD, RN, FAAN, of the North Carolina Nurses Association.

Nursing ranked as the most trusted profession for the 16th year in a row, according to Gallup polling.

Faced with the increasing use of social media to livestream even nursing care, ANA took the position that the inappropriate use of social and electronic media is an ethical violation of both patient confidentiality and professional boundaries.

At the September Board of Directors meeting, ANA President Pamela F. Cipriano, PhD, RN, NEA-BE, FAAN, reported interest in assigning nurses a National Provider Identifier (NPI) so that treatment provided by each nurse could be documented and subsequently retrieved from electronic records. A work group was assigned to study the issue.

ANA Enterprise launched the ANA Innovation Awards™ powered by BD to encourage nurses to develop innovative ways to improve patient outcomes or safety. Awards of $25,000 will go to individuals; nurse-led teams will receive $50,000.

For the fourth consecutive year, ANA President Pamela F. Cipriano, PhD, RN, NEA-BC, FAAN, was named one of the "100 Most Influential People in Healthcare" by Modern Healthcare.

An ANA-endorsed bill, the Substance Use Disorder Workforce Loan Repayment Act of 2018, passed the House of Representatives. If enacted, it would provide student loan relief for those pursuing careers in substance abuse treatment.

Ninety-two percent of ANA's Political Action Committee-endorsed candidates were victorious on Election Day.

By the close of 2018, more than 65,000 nurses and other health care professionals were participating in Healthy Nurse, Healthy Nation™.

ANA joined 23 other organizations on the National Steering Committee for Patient Safety to begin work on a national strategy for reducing harm in health care delivery.

ANA was the 2018 “Power of A” Silver Award winner for its Healthy Nurse, Healthy Nation™ Grand Challenge.

ANA’s Minority Fellowship Program was awarded a 5-year, $7.2 million grant from the Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration, with the goal of increasing the number of minorities providing treatment to substance abusers in minority communities.

2019

ANA announced that its 2019 legislative priorities are: Title VIII reauthorization for nursing workforce programs, addressing the opioid epidemic and prescriptive authority for APRNs, stabilizing the Affordable Care Act, and preventing gun violence.

The Florence Nightingale International Foundation Board of Directors named Joyce J. Fitzpatrick, PhD, MBA, RN, FAAN, and vice chair of the American Nurses Foundation, as the recipient of the 2019 International Achievement Award.

Gallup Polling found that, for the 17th consecutive year, nursing was rated the most honest and ethical profession.

ANA’s Quality and Innovation Conference was held in Orlando April 24-26 concurrent with American Nurses Credentialing Center (ANCC) Pathway to Excellence Conference, allowing attendees to have access to both events for the same cost.

ANA Enterprise CEO Loressa Cole, DNP, MBA, RN, FACHE, NEA-BC, was named one of the “50 Most Influential Clinical Executives” by Modern Healthcare.

In recognition of growth in the number of registered nurses to exceed 4 million, the theme of National Nurses Week (May 6-12) was “4 Million Reasons to Celebrate.”

The 2019 Membership Assembly was held June 21-22 in Washington, DC. The Assembly approved the recommendation made last year to revise ANA’s position statement on “The Nurse’s Role When a Patient Requests Aid in Dying.”

ANA updated its position statement on immunizations to support vaccination in all cases except medical exemption. As of June 2019, 45 states permitted exemptions based on religious beliefs, and 15 allowed exemptions for philosophical or personal beliefs.

ANA partnered with Time’s Up Healthcare, a coalition of health care professionals campaigning to improve gender equity and end sexual harassment in the workplace. ANA Past President Pamela F. Cipriano, PhD, RN, NEA-BC, FAAN, represented ANA at the launch event.

ANA-supported legislation was introduced in the House of Representatives to designate Cadet Nurses who served during World War II as honorary veterans.

ANA became a key partner in Nursing Now USA, a 3-year global campaign run in collaboration with the International Council of Nurses (ICN) and the World Health Organization (WHO) to raise the status and profile of nurses worldwide.

ANA announced a partnership with the Healthcare Information and Management Systems Society (HIMSS) to advance nurse-led innovation through initiatives such as NursePitch™ .

The National Academy of Medicine (NAM) launched a new study on the future of nursing at a meeting in Washington, DC, attended by ANA Enterprise CEO Loressa Cole who expressed support for the endeavor and volunteered ANA's expertise.

ANA released an update to its "Principles for Nurse Staffing," a guide to determining staffing levels that are in the best interests of nurses and patients.

ANA President Ernest J. Grant, PhD, RN, FAAN, and Director-at-Large Tonisha J. Melvin, DNP, CRRN, NP-C, were recognized by Becker's Hospital Review in its 2019 list of 68 African American leaders in health care.

ANA leaders joined more than 5,000 nurses from around the world for the 2019 International Council of Nurses Congress meeting in Singapore.